VICTORIA, B. C., SATURDAY, MAY 8, 1915

NO. 107

1,364 WERE MURDERED BY THE GERMANS

FEW OF FIRST CLASS PASSENGERS SAVED

Some of Lusitania Survivors Landed on Island Near Galley Head

FORTY-FIVE TAKEN TO QUEENSTOWN ON DRIFTER

Bodies of Victims Arriving at Queenstown on Every Incoming Vessel

New York, May 8.—The Cunard Line issued an announcement to-day saying that it had received a cablegram from Liverpool which said that the admiralty had announced that only a few first-class passengers had been saved and that three boats were reported to be bringing 100 bodies to Queenstown.

London, May 8.—A number of survivors have been landed by fishing boats on Sovereign Island, in the vicinity of Galley Head. Many are in a serious condition and it is feared that some will not survive.

London, May 8.—A further telegram has just been received from Cork by the British officials stating that forty-five more survivors from the Lusitania have been landed at Queenstown from a drifter.

Queenstown, May 8.—The bodies of victims from the Lusitania are arriving on every incoming boat. The Cunard line warehouse, which is being used as a temporary morgue, already has been filled and sixty more bodies have been taken to the town hall.

Additional dead lie in hotels and boarding houses, the victims of injuries and exhaustion. Still others are at hospitals, to which were taken those whose condition appeared most serious.

Two little children who were brought ashore clasped in each other's arms have not been identified.

Mrs. Stanley Lines, who was brought ashore in one of the ship's boats, immediately started in a search to find her husband. She learned at 4 o'clock this morning that he was dead at a hotel.

The women landing presented a pitiful appearance. Some were covered only with blankets. Many children were without parents.

The funerals of most of the British victims will be held at Queenstown on Sunday.

DRIVING HUNS FROM NEWLY-WON GROUND

British Recaptured Another Section of Lost Trenches at Hill 60

Paris, May 8.—The French war office this afternoon gave out a report on the progress of hostilities which reads as follows:

"In Belgium yesterday at daybreak the Germans delivered a violent attack against the British lines near St. Julien. This attack was repulsed, and the enemy suffered heavy losses."

"At the south of Ypres, at Hill No. 60, the British troops yesterday recaptured a further section of the trenches lost by them three days ago."

"There is nothing to report on the remainder of the front."

Paris, May 8.—The following official statement was issued by the war office last night:

"Last night the enemy delivered two minor attacks, one at Fric, west of Peronne, and the other in Champagne, around the fort of Beauséjour. We repulsed both with gun fire and the bayonet."

The very bad weather this morning stopped all actions. During the afternoon there was an artillery duel of particular violence on the heights of the Meuse."

REGINA PASSENGERS SAFE

Regina, May 8.—All Regina people on board the Lusitania are safe. Rev. H. L. Dwyer and Mrs. Dwyer, mentioned in the list of survivors, wired from New York.

Mrs. E. L. Middlemist has cabled her husband from Queenstown that she is safe.

Mrs. H. R. Frost, of this city, has received a cable from her husband saying he is safe and well.

SEVERAL PROMINENT AMERICANS PERISHED

A. G. Vanderbilt, Chas. Frohman, Elbert Hubbard, Justus M. Forman and C. Klein Dead

LIST INCLUDES NAME OF HERBERT S. STONE

Only 51 Americans Out of 188 on Board Are Accounted For London, May 8.—Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt apparently perished when the Lusitania went down, according to a message to Ambassador Page from the United States consul at Queenstown.

Queenstown, May 8.—The United States consul here can account for only 51 Americans saved out of 188 who were aboard. His roll does not contain the names of Alfred G. Vanderbilt, Charles Frohman, Elbert Hubbard, Justus Miles Forman, the author, or Charles Klein, the playwright.

Of the Americans 108 were in the first cabin, 65 in the second and 15 in the steerage.

New York, May 8.—Herbert Stewart Stone, elder son of Melville Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, is another American passenger not accounted for. Young Mr. Stone was well known as the one-time head of the book publishing firm of H. S. Stone & Company, and the founder and editor of the Chapbook and the House Beautiful, two successful magazines.

Washington, May 8.—Dr. Howard E. Fisher, brother of Walter L. Fisher, former secretary of the Interior, who was on the Lusitania going to the American Red Cross unit in Belgium, cabled to his wife here from Queenstown to-day that he was safe and well.

London, May 8.—A telegram received at the Red Cross bureau from Colonel Ryerson at Queenstown to-day merely says: "I am safe." It is not known whether this refers to the colonel's wife or daughter or to both. Colonel Ryerson has been on the continent since his eldest son was killed and his younger son wounded.

Winnipeg, May 8.—Mrs. M. Cox, a second-class passenger on the Lusitania, has cabled her family here that she and her son Desmond are safe. These names are not included in public list of those saved.

Queenstown, May 8.—The body of Charles Frohman, the theatrical manager of New York, has been recovered and brought to Queenstown, where it now is being embalmed.

NO ELECTION UNTIL END OF WAR COMES

Only Few of Ministers Are at Ottawa Now; Hon. A. E. Kemp Busy

Ottawa, May 8.—The proposal of the government, which a week ago seemed a certainty, to hold a general election in June, now has been abandoned definitely. The prospects now are that there will be no election until the end of the war is in sight.

Sir Robert Borden has gone on a fishing trip up the Gatineau and will be away for a fortnight; Hon. Robert Rogers is on his way to Winnipeg; Hon. W. T. White and Hon. J. D. Reid are in Toronto; Hon. T. Chase Casgrain is in Quebec; Hon. J. D. Hazen is in Montreal hospital; Hon. T. W. Crothers is in St. Thomas, and Hon. Arthur Meighen, the solicitor-general, has gone west.

The leading ministers in town now are Sir George E. Foster, who is acting premier; Major-General Hughes, Hon. C. J. Doherty, Hon. A. E. Kemp and Hon. Dr. Roche.

As head of the new purchasing commission, Mr. Kemp is busy dealing with orders for war supplies. Several large orders already have been placed. The other commissioners are H. LaPorte, of Montreal, and George F. Galt, of Winnipeg.

WAS NOT KILLED

Brindon, Mass., May 8.—A cablegram received here states that Lieut. Geo. A. Caldwell, previously reported as killed, is alive and well, although a prisoner of war.

HAS AMERICAN LINER NEW YORK BEEN SUNK?

New York, May 8.—There was a persistent rumor in Wall street at noon to-day that the American liner New York has been torpedoed off the Irish coast. The rumor was traced to a house which has close English connections, but no definite information is available.

The American line officers here characterized the report as a wild rumor resulting from the sinking of the Lusitania. The New York was believed to be due in Liverpool to-day.

J. J. Hughes, of 2390 Cranmore road, Victoria, left New York on board the liner New York.

UNITED STATES ASKS GERMANY FOR REPORT

Ambassador Instructed to Ascertain Facts Concerning Sinking of Lusitania

SECRETARY BRYAN'S STATEMENT TO-DAY

Washington, May 8.—The United States government to-day directed Ambassador Gerard to make inquiry of the German government for its report on the facts concerning the sinking of the Lusitania. This became known after conferences between high officials. The ambassador was instructed to make his preliminary inquiry as a basis for whatever steps may be taken eventually.

High officials privately said the situation was very grave.

Washington, May 8.—"We are informing ourselves as rapidly as possible regarding the Lusitania matter," said Secretary Bryan to-day, "and we are doing what we can for those injured. We will get all the information we can."

GERMANY KNOWS NO LAW OF GOD OR MAN

Latest Outrage Further Damns Her in Eyes of World, Says London Telegraph

London, May 8.—The London Daily Telegraph in an editorial says:

"Grand Admiral von Tirpitz will be a proud man until he learns what 100,000,000 inhabitants of the United States think of the latest act of piracy on the high seas. The sinking of the Lusitania, with the assassination of some part of her defenceless passengers and crew, marks a definite stage in the career of the pirates."

"They have sinned before, but they now have attempted an act of wholesale murder that affects not only ourselves but the great English-speaking race. And in respect of all the loss of life to the English-speaking people on the other side of the Atlantic, the sinking of the Lusitania is the crowning outrage. It is an act directed not against us as belligerents, but against humanity."

"Germany flouts the good opinion of the world. She advertises her complete indifference to the laws of God or man and to the opinion of all decent-minded people."

"The destruction of this huge vessel and the calculated murder of some of her passengers does not forward Germany's cause. She is where she was before she has committed this heinous crime, further damned in the eyes of posterity."

"Men never will forget this tragedy. No German book by her greatest masters ever will be opened, no sweet strain modelled on music of any of her great composers will reach the human ears, no German scientist ever will claim a conquest over nature in the days to come, but Man will recall the record of this war and in particular the torpedoing of the Lusitania and all the heartlessness of human agony it represents."

"Germany from to-day henceforth confronts the whole Christian and non-Christian world as a nation which recognizes no law, which knows no shame, which has no remorse of conscience, but is willing that humanity perish in the bottomless pit of heathenism and bloody outrage so long as she may hope to triumph."

SAY SHIP'S OFFICERS BEHAVED SPLENDIDLY

All Survivors of Lusitania Unite in Praise of Their Action

PERFORMED THEIR DUTY WITH HEROISM

Sent Women and Children to Take Their Places in Boats First

Queenstown, May 8.—Many of the survivors still are bewildered as a result of their terrible experiences and their accounts of the sinking of the Lusitania are not entirely clear. It is to be noted, however, that all unite in eulogizing the manner in which the ship's officers behaved.

Five minutes after the Lusitania was hit by the second torpedo amidships she had listed to such an extent that the lifeboats on one side could not be launched at all. The work of getting as many persons as possible, for the most part women and children, into the lifeboats that could be got clear, was undertaken at once by the captain and officers of the Lusitania and performed efficiently and with heroism.

The scene as the big liner went down is described by the survivors as heartrending beyond words. Battling for life, the passengers called to relatives and friends or bade each other good-bye.

The small boats which had got away from the side of the liner picked up a good many survivors, who, with lifebelts or clinging to wreckage, were floating on the surface of the water. But soon the boats all were crowded. These boats were in turn picked up by rescuing steamships coming at full speed from shore points, but in many cases four or more hours elapsed before the rescuers reached the scene.

In many cases the only work left for the rescue-workers to do was to collect from the water the floating bodies of the dead.

Several passengers were taken aboard trawlers severely injured, only to die before they could be transferred ashore.

POWERS OF HELL ARE ARRAYED WITH HUNS

What Will United States Do? Asks Winnipeg Free Press

Winnipeg, May 8.—The Free Press says to-day:

"The Lusitania horror will strike the world as the crowning achievement to date of German culture and German frightfulness."

"To the people and the government of the United States the sinking of the Lusitania comes as a challenge. It is not for the people of other lands to frame policies for the United States, but it is possible to imagine the people of that great land awaking with a start to a full realization of the fact that their government has been posing and looking on while other nations have been fighting a fire that threatens to consume the world. In a war to the death between the powers of hell and those of humanity and enlightenment, there is no virtue in a talkative neutrality. This culminating horror is one more test for the United States. Will it content itself with a wordy protest, which will be treated with contempt, or will it take its rightful place as a champion of western civilization?"

"Under the heading, 'With the United States declare war,' the Winnipeg Telegram, in a front page editorial, says:

"How will the republic whose citizens have been the victims of this ruthless act view the calamity? The republic never has engaged in a war with as much provocation as its people now have to fight Germany. Will Washington display the rugged spirit of resentment that is to be expected of a virile nation?"

ALBERTA SURVIVORS

Calgary, Alta., May 8.—James Boyle, of Bellevue, Alta., is safe at Queenstown, according to cable received here.

Savages Gloat Over Success in Killing 1,500 Non-Combatants

London, May 8.—The Exchange Telegraph Company has received to-day the following telegram from Copenhagen:

"Berlin papers print the news of the sinking of the Lusitania in colossal type and hail the successful torpedoing of the ship as a new triumph for Germany's naval policy. The general impression is that Britain has got what she deserved."

STATED THAT ITALY HAS DECLARED WAR

Unconfirmed Report Reaches New York Board of Trade

LONDON DISPATCH SAYS DECISION HAS BEEN MADE

New York, May 8.—The board of trade has received an unconfirmed report that Italy has declared war.

London, May 8.—From an entirely trustworthy source it is asserted that Italy's definite decision to enter the war now has been made.

It is added that the German government is acquainted with the determination of the Rome cabinet, and it is considered more than likely that the Kaiser, following the line indicated in his minority telegram to Ambassador Prince von Bielew, will declare war upon his former ally and simultaneously endeavor to strike a crushing blow at her.

Rome, May 8.—Reports that Italy has decided to proclaim the annexation of Turkish islands in the Aegean Sea were widely circulated here to-day. This action would be equivalent to a declaration of war against the Turks and would cause the Teutonic allies to intervene.

The sinking of the Lusitania has caused a most unfavorable impression against the Germans here.

Geneva, May 8.—The Tribune publishes a dispatch from Rome saying that the Italian government has decided, owing to the recent uprising in Tripoli, to notify Turkey that it considers void the treaty of Lausanne. Such a notification, the Tribune says, would amount to a declaration of war.

Passenger trains from Italy are crowded with Germans and Austrians. A number of German correspondents from Milan and Turin have arrived at Lugano.

After the uprising of rebels near Misra, Tripoli, last month, it was reported from Rome that the insurgents were being led by Turks.

BRITISH COLUMBIA PEOPLE ON LUSITANIA

Nelson, B. C., May 8.—Rev. H. W. Simpson, of Rossland; Mr. and Mrs. Bailey, of Edgewood, B. C.; and Mr. and Mrs. Chantey and baby, of Nelson, booked passages on the Lusitania. Rev. Mr. Simpson, who was on his way to England to visit his mother, who has been prostrated by the loss of two sons in the war, is saved. Nothing is known of the others, although Chantey was taken ill in Spokane and may not have reached New York in time to catch the Lusitania.

GERMANS SENT DOWN ANOTHER TRAWLER

London, May 8.—A dispatch to the Central News from Aberdeen says that the steam trawler Bennington, one of three which escaped from a German submarine on Sunday, was sunk by a shell from a submarine off Aberdeen at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The crew was saved by a Norwegian steamship.

AMONG THE SURVIVORS

London, May 8.—Mrs. Orr Lewis, who is staying at the Ritz hotel, states that telegrams received saying that Miss Braithwaite, who is on her way to stay with her sister, Mrs. Guy Drummond, and also Bob Holt, son of Lady Holt, both are safe.

WAS NOT DROWNED

London, May 8.—The Allan line has received a wire stating that Orr Lewis is safe.

703 SAVED OUT OF TOTAL OF 2,067; MANY WOMEN AMONG DEAD

Passengers on Board Lusitania Numbered 1,251; Heartrending Scenes at Queenstown, Where All is Confusion; Rescue Boats Which Are Arriving Now Are Bringing Bodies Picked Up Near Spot.

London, May 8.—The best available information sets forth that the Lusitania had on board 1,251 passengers and a crew of 816. This gives a total of 2,067 souls on board the liner when she was torpedoed.

An admiralty statement this morning placed the number of survivors at 658. Later a report from Ireland said 45 more had been brought in, making 703 known survivors and a death list of 1,364.

The latest rescue boats to arrive at Queenstown are bringing mostly bodies of the dead picked up from the water at the scene of the disaster. The dead now here number 124 and many of them are women.

The naval and military authorities of Queenstown are rendering every assistance possible in the removal of dead and in assisting the injured to hospitals. The manager of the Cunard line has taken ample hotel accommodation, as well as rooms in lodging houses, and here the survivors are being sent.

Queenstown never has witnessed such a scene before. The dead are being conveyed to morgues and undertaking establishments and numbers of motor cars have been brought into service to take the injured to hospitals.

The less seriously injured are being helped ashore by sailors and soldiers. Both men and women rescued, if they are able to walk, refuse to remain in the hotel. They haunt the docks waiting and watching for friends and relatives.

In addition to the living brought ashore, the bodies of forty-five who died of injuries or were drowned have been landed at Queenstown, and five more at Kinsale, and it has been reported that an armored trawler, accompanied by two fishing boats, has picked up 100 others.

The work of compiling a list of those saved is progressing slowly because of the indescribable confusion at Queenstown, but apparently few first-class passengers are among the survivors.

The heavy loss of life among the first-class passengers is believed to have been due to the calmness and self-possession they displayed in face of danger. Most of them were at luncheon when the steamship received her death blow and declined to join the rush for the boats and lifebelts. They believed the Cunarder would remain afloat until assistance could arrive.

Apparently every precaution had been taken against a surprise attack by a submarine. Lookouts were on the alert constantly as the giant steamship sped toward the Irish coast. Difficulty was experienced in launching the boats because of the heavy list of the Lusitania almost immediately after she was torpedoed.

The lookouts sighted the periscope of a submarine 1,000 yards away and the next instant they saw the trail of the torpedo as it flashed on its course. Then came a terrific crash as the missile pierced the liner's side, followed almost immediately by another, which shattered the decks with wreckage. The course of the liner was turned shorewards at once. Four torpedoes apparently were fired at the Lusitania, but only two of them found their mark.

Liverpool, May 8.—Of 188 Americans aboard the ill-fated Cunard liner Lusitania, only 14 are reported saved in advices received here to-day at the offices of the company. One hundred and forty-four residents of the United States are believed to have been drowned or killed outright when the German torpedo sank the big vessel.

Hamilton, Ont., May 8.—Messages were received here this morning that two Hamilton residents, Robinson Pirie, buyer for the W. E. Sanford Co., and Mrs. A. B. Osborne, wife of Dr. R. A. Osborne, who is with the Canadian hospital corps in England, were saved from the Lusitania.

Port Arthur, Ont., May 8.—Mrs. Jack Oliver and two children, of Port Arthur were on the Lusitania bound for Mrs. Oliver's old home in Yorkville. Their fate is unknown.

London, May 8.—Hopes that the list of persons saved might be increased materially were dashed by an announcement from the British admiralty that all but one of the rescue fleet which put out from Queenstown had reported that there was little prospect of news of further survivors. Nevertheless inquiries are being made all along the coast in the hope that other rescues may have been made by small craft, which put in at isolated points.

Of the 290 first-class passengers, it now is believed that only 75 were saved. No word has been received of Alfred G. Vanderbilt and other prominent men who were aboard.

The story of the Lusitania came in slowly, owing partly to the confusion prevailing at Queenstown, where most of the survivors were landed. No information was available as to how many of the Americans on the liner had gone down. Stories told by survivors seemed to confirm the early reports that the Lusitania had been struck by two torpedoes.

Washington, May 8.—Late to-day the state department advices accounted as safe 65 of the 188 Americans on the Lusitania. That number did not include three unidentified bodies, which were thought to be those of Americans.

Spokane, May 8.—Mrs. Ernest Cowper, of Toronto, who is visiting here, received a cablegram from her husband at Queenstown to-day announcing that he was safe and that he had saved a little girl after the Lusitania had been torpedoed.

Mr. Cowper, a newspaper man, in a story cabled from Queenstown last night by the Associated Press, said he saw the periscope of the submarine while he was chatting with a friend at the rail of the liner, and later the conning tower of the submarine about 1,000 yards away. Immediately after he saw the track of the torpedo. He mentions Miss Helen Smith as the girl he put in a boat.

Los Angeles, May 8.—A cable message received here to-day said that A. C. Blitcko, a wealthy Los Angeles hotelman, and his wife were among the Lusitania survivors.

London, May 8.—An indication of the plight of the survivors of the Lusitania is afforded in a telegram just received by Mrs. Orr Lewis from her husband, who says he is quite safe at Queenstown, but desires her to go over immediately with some clothes as he is utterly bereft of everything.

The report that Lady Allan, of Montreal, was saved is confirmed officially by the Cunard line.

London, May 8.—Survivors of the Lusitania maintained a night-long vigil in the London office of the Cunard company. The rush of inquiries recommenced at an early hour and grew constantly as the morning passed.

St. Louis, Mo., May 8.—Dr. D. V. Moore, of Yankton, S. D., on his way to England to enlist in the British hospital corps, cabled the Journal that he saved his life by clinging to a log. He was picked up by a patrol.

Washington, May 8.—American Consul Frost at Cork cabled the state department late to-day that among the list of identified dead of the Lusitania American passengers were Charles Frohman, Mrs. Emilia McDonald and Patrick Cullen.

GREAT BATTLE IN WESTERN GALICIA

Russian Official Report; Enemy Driven Back in the North

Petrograd, May 8.—The following official communication was issued last evening:

"In the region of Mitau (Courland) our troops have continued to press the enemy closely.

"In the direction of Miawa, we have continued to develop the success recently achieved. In this district yesterday we occupied the villages of Maréze and Gremki, and repulsed three counter-attacks. Repeated attempts of the Germans to recapture the farm of Somkany were barren of results.

"The enemy yesterday attempted to cross the Pilica in the region of Kozlovitz, but were repulsed by our fire. In Galicia, between the Vistula and the Carpathians, fighting continues with the same fierceness, and has assumed the character of a great battle. In this region the arrival of several German army corps has been revealed.

"In the direction of Mase Labona we repulsed the bayonet six vigorous attacks. The number of the enemy's wounded captured in the region of Makovka is increasing.

"In the valley of the Lomnica, we also have gained important successes."

Vienna, May 8.—The following official statement was issued by the war office last night:

"Austrian and German troops have crossed the Wisloka river, in the district between Pilno and Jasztar. The advanced troops are south of Jaslo. Strong Austrian troops in the Dukla-Rymanow district bar the Carpathian roads, along which the Russians in irregular columns are retreating in a north and northeasterly direction, pursued by our allied army advancing across the Beskida.

"The number of prisoners and amount of booty are increasing. Our tenth corps yesterday captured five heavy and 160 light cannon.

"Our troops in the eastern sector of the Carpathian front are repulsing in the meantime desperate Russian attacks, with heavy losses to the enemy.

"Russian attack yesterday against Osty Hight was repulsed by our artillery. We captured 1,300 prisoners. Several detachments were annihilated by our flanking fire.

"In southeast Galicia all attempts of the enemy to take several vantage points have failed.

"During artillery engagements our mortars destroyed naval guns near Belgrade."

SIR ROBERT BORDEN

ON FISHING TRIP

Enjoying Short Holiday With Sanford Evans; Will Return Next Week

Ottawa, May 8.—It is understood that Sir Robert Borden has left the capital on a short fishing expedition. It is stated that he has gone to one of the fishing clubs on the Gatineau river with Sanford Evans, chairman of the commission which is inquiring into the commercial feasibility of the Georgian Bay canal.

Sir Robert Borden has been indisposed for the greater part of the week, and it is stated that he is taking a holiday on the advice of his physician. He has been suffering from nervous strain due to long hours of work, and has had a recurrence of the blood disorders from which he has suffered on former occasions.

Sir Robert's physician advised a holiday in the open as the best corrective of his present indisposition.

During the absence of the prime minister from the capital there is not likely to be a decision in regard to a date for the election. The minister will rest in abeyance until he returns to the capital some time next week.

TURKS ARE WATCHING ARMENIANS IN CAPITAL

London, May 8.—Armenians in Constantinople are being kept under the closest surveillance, according to a Reuter dispatch received from the Turkish capital by way of Athens. Many priests, doctors and merchants have been exiled to Angora (a mountain province of Asia Minor) but, no others are allowed to leave the city. Wholesale arrests have been made, and among the notables taken into custody is an Armenian member of parliament, who has been regarded hitherto as one of the leaders of the Young Turks.

FORRESTER ELECTED

Nansimo, May 8.—In the by-election yesterday to fill the vacancy in the representation of the North Ward in the city council, caused by the death of Alderman James Crossan, ex-Alderman Alexander Forrester defeated ex-Alderman J. R. McKinnell by a 75 majority.

CAPT. FANE WOUNDED

London, May 8.—Capt. G. E. Fane, of the Garrison artillery, has been wounded. Some years ago he was inspecting ordnance officer in Canada.

SAYS THAT TWO WERE CRUCIFIED BY HUNS

G. Stewart Tells Liverpool Audience of Way Germans Treated Captured Canadians

London, May 8.—Gershom Stewart, Unionist member for the Wirral division of Cheshire, speaking at Liverpool yesterday, said:

"I am credibly informed that the Germans caught two Canadians and crucified them. The Canadians got to know of it, and that was one of the many reasons why they repelled the overwhelming attack of the enemy with such magnificent and impetuous valor.

"The death of these men by such methods will cost the Germans many thousands of lives because the Canadians will be stirred to the utmost to avenge men so brutally done to death. The cold-blooded brutality of the Germans has been the most painful revelation to all counting Germans among their friends.

FRECKLES

Don't Hide Them With a Veil! Remove Them With the Othine Prescription.

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by druggists under guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles disappearing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine. It is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

Faithful to the End.—A reporter on a Kansas paper was among those on a relief train that was being rushed to the scene of a railway wreck. About the first victim the reporter saw was a man sitting in the road with his back to a fence. He had a black eye, his face was somewhat scratched, and his clothes were badly torn—but he was entirely calm. The reporter jumped to the side of the man against the fence. How many hurt? he asked of the prostrate one. "Haven't heard of any body being hurt," said the battered person. "What was the cause of the wreck?" "Wreck? Haven't heard of any wreck." "You haven't heard of any wreck? Who are you, anyhow?" "Well, young man, I don't know that that's any of your business, but I am the claim agent of this road."

Mrs. Carnes had a new maid, and while she went on a day's motor trip she ventured to leave the children in charge of the girl. "Well, Annie," asked the mistress, on her return, "how did the children behave during my absence? Nicely, I hope." "Nicely, indeed, mum," replied the girl, "but at the end they fought terribly, mum." "Fought," exclaimed Mrs. Carnes. "Why, Annie, why did they fight?" "To decide, mum," said Annie, "which was behavior 'th' best."

"Must you say 'No'?" he pleaded. "It is not necessary," she returned sweetly. "I can say 'Most assuredly not.' In fact there are several ways of expressing the same thought."

A GERMAN TRIUMPH

The Berlin press exultingly acclaim the blackest deed that ever stained a human soul as a new triumph of German naval policy. But what the people of Germany may say or feel no longer affects the issue this devilish massacre has magnified in the eyes of the world. Civilization now knows that the barbarism which has had so many manifestations in the last nine months must be wiped out. It knows that there is no more room on this earth for the bestial savages who have been masquerading in the garb of culture and enlightenment than there was for the cannibals of Africa and the aborigines of America. Germany may chant paeans of triumph over the bodies of the innocent men, women and children she has murdered; she may laugh over the death struggles of the victims of her foul hatred, but as surely as there is a God in heaven she has wrought her own downfall and brought nearer that awful day of retribution when she will pay the full penalty for her fearful crimes against humanity.

She made war on Europe deliberately and remorselessly, and by her methods she became the enemy of the human race. She lied, intrigued, broke treaties, ravaged a little state whose only offence lay in trusting the word of painted, tinselled savage who, through a trick of fortune, happened to be upon the German throne. Instead of in the jungle, she threw shells into groups of unsuspecting women and children and clapped her hands with glee at their sufferings; she poisoned wells, and now, dissatisfied even with this horrible record, she surpasses herself in an act of atrocity which will brand her memory with infamy as long as humanity endures.

But she has over-reached herself at last. By murdering the subjects of neutrals she has made an end of all neutrality. There will be a price upon her head. Outraged civilization, without division and irrespective of all local considerations and rivalries, will unite in an irresistible campaign to bring her to the bar of justice. Her hymns of hate, her imprecations, her blasphemy, will avail her nothing. The German empire, as it is now constituted and led, will become naught but a defiling smudge on the scroll of history. And with that end will begin the explanation of the German people. For many generations they will bear the bar sinister on their foreheads. In their name these foul crimes have been committed and they have not repudiated them. Instead they have commended them. They have shown themselves to be a race of pitiless assassins, liars and vandals, whose dark passions required only the necessary provocation to expose themselves. That is the verdict they will have to face in future years; it is the load every German must carry through his life.

The immediate responsibility for the Lusitania massacre is easy to fix. It rests upon the German government, whose ambassador to Washington duly announced the authorization of its agents to destroy the vessel. That warning, or the fact that it was regarded as a bluff and adequate precautionary measures were not taken, in no way extenuates the offence. The German government in this instance consists of the Kaiser and his ministers. We often have commented bitterly upon the responsibility of the perversity at Potsdam for these atrocities and have been rebuked in some quarters for doing so. But there will be no more rebuking. The order for the destruction of the Lusitania emanated directly from the German Emperor and his satellites. Of this there can be no doubt, for nobody else is competent to issue such an instruction.

If the degenerate emperor and his ghastly entourage escape death in battle, which is almost certain, or fail to take refuge in suicide, they must be dealt with personally in accordance with the enormity of their crimes. Napoleon was punished by isolation at St. Helena, but Napoleon was not the inhuman monster the German Kaiser is, and not a little sympathy was felt for him even in England and the other countries which united to lay him low. For the German master-bends there will be no sympathy from the civilized world, no matter how extreme may be their punishment. The mills of God grind slowly, but they grind exceeding small.

BLEW UP GERMANY.

A correspondent puts the case aptly when he says that the men who fired the torpedoes that sank the Lusitania have blown up the German empire. What other effect could this fell deed have upon the issue of the war? Did the authors of it imagine that it would cause the British people to sue for peace? Have they learned no lessons from the war as far as it has gone? If they had they would have known that the only effect of such an atrocity would be to confirm the determination of four hundred million people to put an end to them and their hellish work. To the attainment of that object every man, woman and child in the United Kingdom and dominions is prepared to devote all that is in them. Our armies will be swelled by thousands of men animated by an unquenchable anger; labor troubles will be dropped; armament factories will be multiplied; shipbuilding will be expedited and behind it all will be the unbending resolve of the government not only to crush Prussianism to the earth, to impose such terms when Germany shrieks for mercy as will draw her fangs forever, but to punish personally the criminals, no matter what may be their stations, for their offences against the laws of God and man.

If the arch-assassins imagined that the crime of the Lusitania would cause the British admiral to alter the disposition of its fleets and relax its stranglehold they have added another miscalculation to their record. The naval authorities know that the grip they have secured upon the German throat is beginning to tell and that in the long run it will lay the enemy at their feet. Hence no number of massacres will alter this policy. The line may injure British trade, but they cannot cut off Britain's supplies. It is only against unconvoyed passenger ships, trawlers and coasters that they can strike. They are powerless to prevent the transport of a single soldier to the continent and they could not touch a vessel that was properly protected. The one and only effect of their ruthlessness will be to shorten the war to their own cost.

UP TO UNCLE SAM.

Last February, the United States government addressed a note to Berlin declaring that it would hold Germany to "strict accountability" for the loss of American lives in the submarine policy of which the German admiral had given notice. The Lusitania horror has put the Washington assurance to the test. Over a hundred Americans have been murdered upon the deliberate, calculated instruction of the German government.

The Germans can offer no excuse that might place them beyond the limit of the American warning of February. Aside from the fact that they declared through their embassy in Washington that they would sink the vessel, their own press, which records the view of their government, openly exults in the crime and acclaims it as a triumph of German naval policy. Thus if Washington endeavors to find some pretext through which complications can be averted it can have no assistance from Berlin. The Germans have hurled a challenge to the United States with characteristic brutality. Will the United States in the name of humanity and civilization take it up?

President Wilson has promptly instructed the American ambassador at Berlin to make a formal inquiry of the German government. There is little doubt that the answer will be provocative. The German mind has reached such a state of frenzy that whatever judgment it may have had has been destroyed. It has been debauched by blood-lust and hatred of Britain. To do as much damage as possible to the object of its hatred it is willing to enlarge the scope of its enemies.

In a higher and broader sense the duty of the United States is plain. If it had any doubt before as to the nature of the menace to the cause of civilization it has none now. Germany has made war upon the American people; she has slain over a hundred citizens of the union. Our neighbors know now that were Germany to be victorious over the allies they some day would have to fight her alone; that preparation for this would involve conscription, distasteful to a democratic race; gigantic expenditures on armaments and the interruption of that industrial development which has been one of the wonders of twentieth century progress. In Europe the powers of light are combating the powers of darkness. They, therefore, are fighting the battle of the United States and other nations whose swords still rest in their scabbards. Will those neutrals callously ignore the mute appeals of their murdered citizens and remain quiescent? We think not.

The London Morning Post continues its venomous attacks upon Winston Churchill and Lord Fisher. That newspaper is the confessed organ of special privilege and reactionary politics and against its influence the British people must safeguard themselves when the time comes to discuss terms of peace. It is almost certain to make appeals for clemency for Prussianism on the ground that it never would do to give democracy too pronounced a triumph.

We sympathize deeply with those in this city who had relatives aboard the Lusitania in the cruel suspense they are suffering. At the same time we counsel them not to lose hope, for undoubtedly all the survivors have not been located. Some, it is certain, were picked up by fishing vessels and taken to points along the Irish coast not easily reached by inquirers.

The British do not make good spies, but we fancy their agents will be able to select satisfactory sites for the erection in Germany of gibbets on which to string up the authors of her foul crimes against the world.

The supreme act of Germany's infamy at least will have the effect of uniting the whole civilized world against the ruffianism of Potsdam.

Abdul the Damned was not a circumstance to Wilhelm the Accursed.

TWO SUBJECTS FOR DISCUSSION MONDAY

Employment Bureau and Motion on Federal Election to Be Debated

Two important subjects are scheduled for attention by the aldermen on Monday evening. The first is the decision by the Bureau of Management, and the second is the resolution on the federal election.

The former point has been laid over for a week as the aldermen were not then united whether the co-opted members of the committee should be directly representative of the employing class and the Trades and Labor council, or whether they should be chosen irrespective of class associations.

The resolution which stands in the name of Alderman Todd asking the council to approach Sir Robert Borden and protesting against a federal election at this time is likely to provoke some discussion. One of the Conservative members of the council said this morning he deprecated the introduction of politics in any form into council business, and the motion ought to be withdrawn, though he did not intend to ask the alderman to do so.

The council will pay a visit on Monday morning to the allotments under cultivation by the Affiliated Friendly Societies' members in various parts of the town. After the non-success of the land scheme of the Development Association last fall, the former association took up the movement to use va-

TO EDUCATE GROWERS ON INSECT DANGERS

Entomologist is Meeting Fruit-growers; The Tent Caterpillar Pest

In an endeavor to give information to the public on the serious effect of the pear thrip on all classes of fruit trees, and to fruit-growers especially on the strawberry weevil, R. C. Treherne, field officer of the Dominion entomological division, stationed at Agassiz, and the provincial horticulturist, R. M. Winslow, visited the orchards at Keating yesterday, and in the evening spoke at a meeting of the Local Fruit-growers' association. Today they are paying attention to the Gordon Head district, with the intention of meeting the berry growers at a gathering at the Gordon Head hall this evening.

Mr. Treherne, in a chat with the Times this morning, explained that the pear thrip has caused much devastation in the Californian orchards, and is thus designated "the California thrip."

"I think the short winter and early spring has caused its appearance in an aggravated form this year," he said, "and that it has been the reason of the failure of previous crops which have been put down in the past to frost and other causes. The serious effect on the orchards is that the ordinary methods of control are ineffectual, the pest requiring a pressure of 200 pounds upon it, the use of an oil spray, and special nozzles to reach it in the calyx of the blossom. It will probably be necessary to make an arrangement between the growers for the use of a common plant over a number of orchards, and for the authorities to step in where the old orchards are neglected and compel action."

Turning to the strawberry weevil, which he has studied for some time in the Fraser valley, particularly round Hatzie, Mr. Treherne referred to his bulletin published last year after a careful study of the insect.

"While the physical conditions are somewhat different," he said, "on the Lower Fraser, yet around Victoria the experience is practically identical, and it is necessary to check the inroads of the larvae on the roots of the strawberry plant. The effect of crop rotation on large plantations is marked, and represents one of the most efficient methods of controlling the depredations of the weevil. On small farms the effect is not so marked. Using chickens, as well as varying the crop, is recommended."

Asked his opinion with regard to the tent caterpillar, to which the attention of the city council is now directed, and about which a notice appears in the press calling on owners to abate the nuisance while the larvae stage exists. Mr. Treherne said the variety found here is somewhat different to that on the lower mainland, being the Malacosoma pluvialis. Experience shows that a district will be seriously affected one season, and the next year the area of contagion will be moved to another centre. The variety of western caterpillar we have on the mainland was found in excess in successive years at Vancouver, Mission, Agassiz, Yale and Lytton, and so on up the Fraser valley. Probably the same would apply here. It particularly attacks willow, alder and poplar, as well as other trees and shrubs.

Mr. Treherne drew attention to the necessity of protecting gardens and orchards under cultivation from the pests bred in their neglected neighbors' orchards, where the owners are indifferent to the damage their neglect involves on others, and pointed out that if the pests are not eradicated the trees and shrubs ought to be compulsorily cut down and destroyed.

This situation applied particularly to lands laid out for real estate speculation, now neglected on the outskirts of the cities.

THREE OFFICERS WHO ARE PRISONERS OF WAR

Toronto, May 8.—"Prisoners in Germany," quite well," was the cablegram received by the mother of Capt. B. L. Johnston, who, after the battle of Langemarck, was reported wounded and missing. Lieut. Gerard Green, of the Royal Grenadiers, Toronto, is a prisoner in the hands of the Germans. The full text of the message to England from another prisoner of war, Capt. George M. Alexander, of the 4th Highlanders, reads: "24th April; taken prisoner yesterday. I am quite well and being well treated. Germans say we did very well in fight."

"Yes," replied he, and for once he saw a chance, and, grasping his courage, he said: "To sit next to you, Miss Grace, is to lose one's appetite."

Esquimalt Friendly Help—At the meeting of Esquimalt Friendly Help Society yesterday, Mrs. Croft presiding, the usual reports were submitted by the visitors. About the same number of needy cases as usual were assisted during the past month. The meeting decided to close the rooms of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home for the summer, the visitors in the various districts to look after necessitous families. The prospect of work was considered better owing to the big sewer work undertaken by the city. It was reported that the recent rummage sale had resulted in the sum of $122 being taken in aid of the organization's fund, all the ladies being thanked for their active participation in the undertaking. The next meeting of the society will be held at Mount Adelaide the first Friday in June.

Victoria Times, May 8, 1890.

Last Tuesday evening a small party from Cedar Hill made a friendly call at the residence of the Rev. D. McRae, and conveyed their congratulations on his marriage.

There is great danger of the trade of Victoria being in some degree injured by the action of the American tugs across the Sound unless some sort of a decision as to the rights and privileges of both the American and Victorian rights be arrived at by both parties.

The flag over the Tiger fire hall was gayly waving to-day, to celebrate the marriage yesterday of William Neal to Miss Mary Pike of Millstream, by the Rev. J. E. Starr.

Sheriff McMillan has posted notices calling for the panel for the grand-jury.

Sunday Services.—The Universal Spiritual church will hold an evening service on Sunday at 8 o'clock in the Odd Fellow's hall.

Young People's Meeting.—The Tabernacle B. Y. P. U. meets as usual on Monday at 8 p. m. The subject for the evening will be "Favorite Characters of the Bible and Why."

Corporate Communion.—Corporate Communion will be held in St. John's church at 9.30 a. m. on Thursday, May 13 (Ascension Day), for all the women's societies of the church, the Church and Church Guild, the Women's and Girls' Auxiliary to Missions, etc. All are requested to be present.

St. John's Branch, W. A.—The St. John's Branch, W. A. will meet on Tuesday, May 12, at 8 p. m. owing to the meeting of the Diocesan Board falling on the usual day in the following week. A good attendance of members is requested, as several important matters have to be dealt with.

Memorial Service.—On Monday evening the Metropolitan Epworth league's programme will be of a missionary nature, while the latter part of the evening will be devoted to a memorial service in honor of George Elliott, a late member of the league who was killed in action recently. All friends of the deceased here are invited.

Mechanics for Front.—Under the misapprehension that arrangements had been made for the sending of a force of mechanics to the front or to work in the factories in England a number of mechanics during the past few days have called on the Provincial government. As far as the government knows, however, no such arrangement has been made.

Feeding of Swine.—Three months from May 1, the date of a proclamation in the Canada Gazette, a new regulation under the Animals Contagious Diseases act will be in force, whereby it will be an offence to feed swine upon garbage or swill, either raw or cooked, obtained elsewhere than on the premises where fed, without the special permission in writing of the veterinary director general, Ottawa.

Patriotic Service Work.—The Patriotic Service committee, I. O. D. E. acknowledges the following gifts received during April: Clothing from Mesdames C. Miller, Hanington, Gordon Smith, Appleby, Cookson, Hardy and Wilders; baby's crib, Mrs. Tub-bard; baby's vests, Mrs. H. W. Pease; baby's bonnet, Mrs. Travis; baby's clothes, Miss Leitch; baby's clothes, Mrs. Fleming and Mrs. Ian St. Clair; new-laid eggs, Mr. Meredith.

Orders Consolidated.—The federal cabinet has consolidated the various orders-in-council issued in regard to the prohibition of export of goods from Canada to countries other than the United Kingdom, France, Russia, Egypt and the Baltic ports. At the same time when for consumption in that country only Japan and British possessions and protectorates. A new order-in-council is issued, containing a long list of articles which may be useful in increasing the quantity of military or naval stores, or any sort of victual which may be used as food for man.

First Presbyterian Service.—To-morrow the second Sunday marking the opening services in the new First Presbyterian church will be celebrated, when the special preacher will be Rev. Professor D. J. Fraser, M. A., LL. D., D. D., of Montreal. At the morning service Mothers' day will be observed, and two hundred boys and young men will march from the Y. M. C. A. to the new church with white carnations in their buttonholes. At the evening service the augmented choir will sing some of the famous choruses from the great oratorios. They will be assisted by Miss Charlotte Spencer, who will sing a solo by request.

Entertainment and Concert.—A grand entertainment and concert will be held in the Knox Presbyterian church, Stanley Avenue, on Tuesday, May 11, commencing at 8 p. m. The entertainment is being given under the auspices of the Knox Athletic association, and the entire proceeds will go towards the fund to defray expenses of building recreation grounds on the corner of Stanley and Gladstone avenues. Some of the best talent in the city, both vocal and instrumental, has been secured, and the entertainment promises to be one of the best ever held in the church. Tickets are twenty-five cents and can be procured from any member of the association or at the door.

Cowichan Station School.—In the new hall, Cowichan Station, a very successful concert was given by the pupils of Cowichan Station school last evening, under direction of the principal, Mr. Bowyer, and Miss Bruce. The first part of the programme was by the Juniors of the school, the second part by the seniors, and the entire entertainment was much appreciated by the big audience present. Some of the principal features which won most favor with the audience were the "Singing Song" by the Juniors, and a Boy Scouts' act by the seniors. The annual entertainment was brought to a very happy conclusion with the clearing away of the seats and an informal dance, which continued until late in the evening.

IMPORTANT LECTURE

Proofs of the Inspiration of the Bible

An interesting and important lecture will be delivered Sunday evening at 7.30 on "Proofs of the Inspiration of the Bible from inside and outside the Scriptures." Many unanswerable and incontrovertible proofs will be dealt with which have been discovered in the ruins of the past. Science, geology and the fulfillment of prophecy are also shown to corroborate the Bible testimony as being God's revelation to man. Three other lectures will be delivered on following Sundays, which harmonize the Scripture from Genesis to Revelation, revealing God's great plan of the ages as revealed therein. The lectures are under the auspices of the associated Bible students. Seats are free and no collection is taken.

The Good Ship "Mutual"

THIS celebrated vessel was laid down in 1868, launched in 1869 and made her maiden voyage in 1870.

She set sail from the port of Waterloo, Ontario, and from the first hour at sea has enjoyed unbounded prosperity.

One notable feature in the working of the ship is that the crew and passengers are the owners and every dollar made is the property of those who sail the ship.

We refer to Canada's only Mutual Life Assurance Company, which is owned and controlled by its policyholders, and which has achieved a marvellous record for unvarying success for nearly fifty years.

The Mutual of Canada has paid to policyholders or heirs for payment to them no less than $40,000,000. The result of nearly a half century of beneficent work.

My Kirmer Arrow Wheel

You ask me why I'm smiling as I draw my cheque to-day.
'Tis because I feel just like I, I have got a full week's pay.
As you know, my work is distant from the wife and kids at home.
Yet I'm never late arriving, why you ought to see me come.
Just a sailing over the highway on my Kirmer Arrow wheel.
You have seen a swallow skimming, well then that is how I feel.
No more tramping for this chicken, no more waiting for the train.
On my wheel I'm independent and a happy lad again.

FREEDOM IN DRESS IS PREVAILING NOTE

Many Smart Women Are Wearing Sports Clothes; the New Hats

New York, May 1.—Caught in the thrall of the season's first heat, which accounts for the smart set's sudden departure, the great city turns its thoughts to the country club, and the stores display trappings for tennis, golf, tramping and riding to tempt those who may tarry in town and the few who motor in to do their shopping.

So exacting is the mode for sports, that the time is long past when a woman can appear on the turf in baggy, ill-fitting clothes. To-day her attire bespeaks the smart tailor. Separate coats are particularly prominent. Straight in Norfolk style, or flaring at the lower edge, white woolen barred in black, covert cloth, checks, tweeds, washable corduroy, awning striped linen and golf cord, the wet a silky rose and the stripe white.

A decided liking for the silk Jersey sweaters is also evident, the styles medium in length, ranging from the short, tucked-in, to the long, flowing at the neck to fancy sweaters with broad sashes and sailor collars. Plain colors, stripes and bars are shown in these, rose, blue and purple being favored. Even raincoats have gained a few points in style, now appearing in attractive Scotch plaids and checks, ruberized to withstand the water.

Every detail of the costume is selected ed with care. Conventions are far more strict concerning the blouse midday wears ago than with the dress she dons for an afternoon tea. Plainly-tailored, long-sleeved waists, buttoned in the front with adjustable collars, are considered correct for country wear. These are made in white, colored or striped linens, rose and green predominating; in some cases the stripe measures an inch in width. Oftentimes, the buttonholes are bound in a color to match the stripes and the closing fastened like a cuff, with buttons of matching color linked together.

On the tennis courts, midday blouses are still seen, with the dress she dons for an afternoon tea. Plainly-tailored, long-sleeved waists, buttoned in the front with adjustable collars, are considered correct for country wear. These are made in white, colored or striped linens, rose and green predominating; in some cases the stripe measures an inch in width. Oftentimes, the buttonholes are bound in a color to match the stripes and the closing fastened like a cuff, with buttons of matching color linked together.

While the whims of fashion are not as a rule rigidly followed in the clothes for sports wear, the added width in skirts is readily accepted. To be sure, skirts for walking, golf and tennis are not extreme, but now measure from two and a half to three yards around the lower edge. Such fabrics as pique, plain and, in novel stripes and bars, linen crash, khaki, tweed and herringbone mixtures are shown in these skirts, which are short and plain save for a lap closing or patch pockets.

Hats, too, have a swagger style. Panamas appear in every conceivable shape, from slouch to stiff sailor, with knitted silk bands made like the knitted ties the men wear. There are collapsible hemp straws and black felt hats in color, convenient to tuck in the corner of a bag when leaving town for a week-end. Broad-brimmed sailors of printed linen in two-toned effects and in natural linen faced with blue are also smart, while rolling brimmed sailors of grass straw in purple and white, and black and white lend variety to the styles; or you may have a bonny tam-o'-shanter loosely knitted in coarse silk jauntily tilted to one side, like the Scotchman wears on the heath.

As in other seasons, the gloves are the heavy mannish type of tan leather or white buckskin to protect the hand of the fair wearer, but belts are a real innovation, as they appear in brilliant stripes and checks, knitted to match the bands on the hats, or in black or colored leather finished with a large buckle at the front.

Fancy shoes have grown so common it is small wonder we find a few novelties among the models for sports wear. Perhaps the most striking is a white buckskin tie with rubber sole and stripings of green or red leather, which serve as trimming, as well as a stay for the flexible buckskin. One house is featuring a white buckskin shoe, the sole of white leather, treated in such a manner that it retains its whiteness in spite of wear. These heelless shoes and shoes are shown for tennis, while walking ties and shoes have heels about an inch high.

Along with the other garments, riding habits are receiving considerable attention. The new trouser and leggings in a lace in front or buttoned at the side, is a style adopted by young girls, while older women favor the skirt, for country wear. Riding coats, too, are shown in front and back, with straps underneath for cross-saddle riding. Riding coats show the conventional notch collar, close body and flaring skirt, and the habits are made in whipcord, covert cloth, tweed and khaki cloth, while tan leather boots or leggings and ties are the approved mode of dressing the feet. The tendency in hats seems to point to the mannish sailor with a fancy band; gloves are the knitted and neckwear the stock, usually pique or duck, in some cases embroidered with large green polka dots or gay purple fleur-de-lis.

It is interesting to note the studied carelessness of the clothes of the woman who loves sport for sport's sake. Two notables of New York society appeared at a golf club early in the season and an idler on the broad veranda was heard to remark as they took the bunkers that they certainly knew how to wear their clothes. The very suitability of the garments made them stylish. With her fair skin, tanned a delicate brown, the first was a perfect picture of what a robust American girl should be in her Norfolk coat of tan chin-chilla, with blue linen skirt showing below, sailor hat of the same material, tan gloves and low-heeled ties of tan leather. The other woman, a trifle older, wore a white linen blouse with collar turned low, a striped pique skirt with large patch pockets and a Panama hat with a checkered band of knitted silk that carried out the contrast of her white buckskin shoes, stayed with black leather, and her black leather belt. There was nothing to hamper their freedom, not a surplus frill or button, but every detail of the costumes showed the thought that had been given their selection by the women themselves.

Tommy had got into the bad habit of breaking the household crockery, and so often did he commit this offence that his mother warned him that the next time he damaged anything he would have to take the consequences. A day or two after this warning Tommy's mother came upon her only son in the kitchen busily smashing the last remnants of a jar of jam. "Whatever are you doing?" exclaimed the angry parent. Tommy flicked the last imaginary speck off his spoon, then answered: "I dropped it" and I've taken the consequences.

STEEL MAGNATE WILL VISIT CITY TO-DAY

James A. Farrell, President of U. S. Steel Corporation, En Route South

One of the leading financial men of the United States, James A. Farrell, head of the United States Steel Corporation, is due in the city this afternoon at 4.30 from Vancouver, and will leave an hour later for Seattle. It had been expected he would make a stay here with his wife and daughter, the party having visited Banff, but the engagement of rooms has been cancelled at the Empress hotel.

Mr. Farrell, while in Vancouver visited the Buena Ventura, of the Maple Leaf lines, which belongs to a subsidiary corporation controlled by the parent body, and also spoke yesterday afternoon to the Canadian club in Vancouver.

Speaking of business conditions when in Vancouver he said: "Business conditions in the United States are in a more healthy condition at the present time than they have been for the past twelve months."

"The bountiful crops last year and the encouraging prospects for a record yield this year have imparted a cheerful influence to the general industrial situation. The Federal Reserve act has been a contributing factor to the same effect."

"Our export business is averaging about normal," he continued, "in so far as the volume is concerned. The demand has fallen off, of course, in some markets, but this is offset to a great extent by increases in others. Our plants are operating to 70 per cent of their full capacity, as compared with last January when the proportion was just half that figure."

From his observations on his tour across Canada from New York, Mr. Farrell said he had discerned a most hopeful tone, and at Winnipeg and Calgary he had found that the business interests were feeling more optimistic in view of the propitious crop indications.

Mr. Farrell holds many important positions as well as the presidency of the U. S. Steel Corporation. He is president of the Foreign Trade Council, for stimulating American trade in foreign fields. Mr. Farrell, who is 51 years old, is one of the leading business men in the United States. He ascended the ladder of success rung by rung. He is a native of New Haven, Conn. At 16 years of age he began work in a steel wire mill in his native city. Later he removed to Pittsburgh, beginning work as a laborer in the Pittsburgh Wire Company, of which he subsequently became superintendent and manager. After becoming general manager of the Oliver Iron & Steel Company he organized a wire company at Bradock, Pa., which became a part of the American Steel & Wire Company. He served as general manager of exports at the American Steel & Wire Company until 1903, when he became president of the United States Steel Products Export Company, a position he held until 1911, when he became president of the United States Steel Corporation.

There seems to be an idea that the exhibition is not completed yet. There are two or three that are not yet completed, but these are in the smaller buildings, and are of nations now engaged in war, so that it is not to be expected that they would be ready.

There are also a few individual exhibits in the larger buildings to which the same applies. With the exception of these the exhibition is complete and contains some very fine collections.

"The one building talked about more than any other is the Canadian, and contains a splendid one. I met many Victorians and former Victorians, and all were greatly pleased with the building and the exhibits. The result is that this country is getting an advertisement that cannot be overestimated, and this city gets its share of that. A great many people were seen under the impression that the exhibit is what might be called a 'show show'."

Commissioner Hutchison told me. There are a few of the exhibits which have been shown elsewhere, but the whole scope and design of the exhibit are new and original. The exhibit is a masterpiece of design and execution, and is a credit to the city and the country.

BISHOP OF KOOTENAY REVISITS VICTORIA

Rt. Rev. Bishop Doull Returns for Few Days; Attended Many Conferences

Rt. Rev. Bishop Doull, who is visiting in Victoria for a few days, attended a succession of important ecclesiastical and other conferences during the past few weeks. Interviewed yesterday by the Times his lordship referred first to the meeting of the House of Bishops held recently at Port William, and touched on some of the more important decisions of that body.

One of the important decisions of the House of Bishops had to do with the next general synod. This was to have been held in Vancouver last autumn, but owing to the war was postponed. It has now been decided to call the general synod together in September, in Toronto.

Bishop Doull made reference to the resolution drawn up with respect to the use of alcoholic beverages during the war, this resulting in the issuance of an appeal to all church people to abstain from such, and urging the provincial parliaments throughout the Dominion to shorten the hours during which saloons might be kept open.

Many matters bearing directly or indirectly on the war were seriously discussed, a fuller announcement on the whole of which will be made at the time of the general synod, said Bishop Doull. It was thought by the House of Bishops that it would be wiser to withhold any statement until the various matters had been given full consideration.

Bishop Doull was also at the meeting of the Missionary society. Although this body has its own anxieties on account of the adverse financial conditions generally—some of the western dioceses, particularly feeling the strain very severely—it was hoped that the church would rise to the occasion and give all the support possible.

On his way back from the conferences in the east, Bishop Doull stopped off at Winnipeg for a short visit. From there he made a somewhat circuitous journey to Vancouver, travelling down coast Golden to Winnipeg, Atholmere, and other parts of his diocese of Kootenay. Retracing part of the same route he then went on to Field and Revelstoke, arriving in Vancouver in time to attend to meeting of the House of Bishops of British Columbia.

The principal matter at that meeting was the acceptance of Bishop Roper's resignation. Later there was the meeting of the Anglican Theological college, at which both Latimer and St. Mark's halls were reported to be doing well as far as men in attendance and willing to go into residence were concerned. Apart from this, however, both institutions have been having a hard time financially, and as they cannot proceed with the work of building until the university starts all work depends on the university scheme going through.

Asked as to the attitude of the church in the war Bishop Doull stated that a short pastoral would be put out, by the archbishop in the future, and that a fuller announcement by the House of Bishops would come later at the meeting of the general synod.

The Bishop of Kootenay will leave with Mrs. Doull and his children next Tuesday for Vernon, which is to be his headquarters temporarily, although Nelson remains the see-city of the diocese of Kootenay for the present at least.

The removal of the family from Victoria will be greatly regretted by many in the diocese of Columbia, who remember their former dean and Mrs. Doull with kindly affection, and will ever look forward to their visits here.

SAN FRANCISCO FAIR

Commissioner Cuthbert Tells What He Thinks of It.

"I have been frequently asked since I came home what my opinion of the San Francisco fair is," said Commissioner Cuthbert to a Times man today. "People want to know if it comes up to expectations. As I told President Moore, I do not think the people of this continent have any adequate conception of the achievement of the people of San Francisco in not only rebuilding their city within nine years after it was practically razed to the ground, but in also getting together the finest exhibition the world has ever seen."

"The architectural beauty of the buildings, the laying out of the magnificent courts, the groups of statuary which dot the lawns and grace the buildings, the illumination effects, color scheme and general decorations; these alone are really worth going to see, and are commented upon by every visitor as far exceeding expectations."

There seems to be an idea that the exhibition is not completed yet. There are two or three that are not yet completed, but these are in the smaller buildings, and are of nations now engaged in war, so that it is not to be expected that they would be ready.

There are also a few individual exhibits in the larger buildings to which the same applies. With the exception of these the exhibition is complete and contains some very fine collections.

FREE ADVICE TO SICK WOMEN

Thousands Have Been Helped By Common Sense Suggestions.

Women suffering from any form of female ill are invited to communicate promptly with the woman's private correspondence department of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established a confidential correspondence which has extended over many years and which has never been broken. Never have they published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the Company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which they have to draw from, it is more than possible that they possess the very knowledge needed in your case. Nothing is asked in return except your good will, and their advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (Confidential) Lynn, Mass.

Every woman ought to have Lydia E. Pinkham's 80-page Text Book. It is not a book for general distribution, as it is too expensive. It is free and only obtainable by mail. Write for

STOREKEEPERS MUST CANCEL ALL STAMPS

Warning That There is Large Fine for Not Doing So

The postal department at Ottawa has notified Postmaster Bishop that it has been learned that persons using postal stamps in place of war stamps on articles that are subject to the tax have not always cancelled the stamps, and that these have been taken off and used for postage. This notification does not particularly apply to Victoria, as the circular sent the postmaster has been sent to all postal headquarters in Canada.

The non-cancellation applies to storekeepers and the circular sent out intimates that it is against the law to let the stamped articles go out without the cancellation of the stamps. The law governing the use of the stamps provides for a penalty for non-cancellation of from $50 to $250.

Mr. Bishop this morning said the new stamp tax arrangements were working well with one exception. Persons using inland revenue stamps have in some cases used these stamps for letter postage. This is not allowed. The postal and war stamps may be used for inland revenue tax purposes, but the inland revenue stamps cannot be used for postal purposes.

Notice has previously been given that there is a large fine for those found guilty of sending out bills or letters by messenger to avoid the war stamp. Under the act the only letters exempt from the act are the following:

Letters sent by a private friend, in his way, journey or travel, provided such letters be delivered by such friend to the person to whom they are addressed.

Letters sent by a messenger on purpose concerning the private affairs of the sender or receiver.

Commissions or returns thereof, or affidavits or writs, process or proceedings or returns thereof, issuing out of a court of justice.

Letters addressed to a place out of Canada and sent by sea and by a private vessel.

Letters lawfully brought into Canada and immediately posted at the nearest post office.

Letters concerning goods or merchandise sent by common known carriers to be delivered with the goods to which such letters relate, without hire or reward, profit or advantage for receiving or delivering them.

Letters of merchants, owners of vessels of merchandise, or of the cargo or loading thereon, sent by such vessel of merchandise, sent by any person, employed by such owners for the carriage of such letters according to their respective addresses, and delivered to the persons to whom they are respectively addressed without pay, hire or reward, advantage or profit for so doing.

But it is provided that the Post Office act does not authorize any person to collect any such excepted letters for the purpose of sending or conveying them as aforesaid; nor does it oblige any person to send any newspapers, pamphlets or printed book by post.

When a little one used a postage stamp, the little ones are mild and pleasant to take. Sold only by D. E. Campbell, the Rexall store, 10c, 25c and 50c boxes.

DEPORTATION CASE.

To the Editor.—The citizens of Victoria owe you thanks for your efforts in coming to the rescue of an oppressed lady torn from her home and deported to China to incur further trials at the hands of perhaps a jealous and unscrupulous first wife. The plot is the brain work of intelligent Chinese merchants (so I think) who have enlisted the services of foreign agents to accomplish their design of kidnapping, serving as a test point for a future design on the same lines of action. To shorten the affair, I agree with your finding that the lady should undoubtedly be brought into court with the parties who assisted this nefarious transaction. You will pardon my mentioning to you an affair on similar basis, which occurred during my stay in Peking: A Chinese official, with retainers galore, mounted, wearing suitable dress of rank, stopped a lady of rank, who with her maid was making purchases in one of the most crowded streets. He took her, shook her violently, used his whip, scolded her, ordered one of his men to act coachman and convey her home, etc. Alas! the lady was taken miles from the city, her jewelry stolen, and she was left in a miserable room, almost devoid of covering, frozen almost into insanity.

A RULE OF THE CHURCH.

To the Editor.—I trust you will allow me the use of your valuable columns in order to gain information upon the following matter:

Quite recently a little child of two years of age met with a fatal accident, and the clergyman in charge of the funeral refused to hold a service over the child inside the church, on the ground that baptism had been omitted. The reason given was that this was the "rule of the Church of England." I fail to understand this and would fain seek explanation.

To whom does the church belong? I was always taught that it belonged to God, and was open to all and sundry who desired help, forgiveness and consolation; yet the door is closed to a pure little baby simply because a symbolic ceremony—involuntary on the child's part—has not been carried out. Christ said: "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not, for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven." I do not observe any conditions attaching to this command.

PROMISES SHORT SESSION

Little Business for Saanich Council on Tuesday.

There will not be much business before the Saanich council on Tuesday, though probably some answer will be ready from the government with regard to the police commission, following the presentation of views last Wednesday.

Arrangements are going on satisfactorily with the paving, since the conclusion of the case, and tenders for the bonds will be invited at an early date through the brokers who have already been in negotiation with the council before litigation tied up the progress of the work.

Considerable gratification is felt that the first consignment of the Saanich waterpipe from the United Kingdom was not on board the Harrison liner candidate when she was sunk, that vessel having been posted for the July sailing from the old country. Some of the pipe is already on its way, and will be delivered in due course via the Harrison direct line.

The steam shovel having completed its work on the Esquimalt, Royal Oak, the machine has been moved to the Sinclair Hill, Cadboro Bay, for cutting down a stiff grade which has always presented a difficulty to vehicular traffic.

CITY LEAGUE BASEBALL SCHEDULE

At last night's meeting of the Victoria Amateur Baseball association the schedule for the season was drawn up. The opening game will be played on May 15, between the Victoria West and C. P. R. teams. Five clubs have entered this series and the complete list of games is as follows:

May 15—Victoria West vs. C. P. R.
May 16—Bapcos vs. Hawkins' Cubs.
May 17—Carter McKenzie vs. Bapcos.
May 19—Hawkins' Cubs vs. Victoria West.
May 21—C. P. R. vs. Carter McKenzie.
May 22—Victoria West vs. Bapcos.
May 23—C. P. R. vs. Hawkins' Cubs.
May 24—Carter McKenzie vs. Victoria West.

"STEAL THIRD" IS LATEST CRY

OF THE MAJOR LEAGUE PILOTS

This looks as if it would be a trying season for umpires who do not hustle every minute and keep their eyes on the ball. The managers of the major league teams seem to have started a new era in baseball. Last season there was such a general complaint among the fans all over the country that the players were loafing and not going the limit, especially in offensive play that the managers seem to have gone the other extreme this spring and are trying to do more things on the bases than they have done for years.

The base-running and general attacking system used in the St. Louis city series has aroused comment. Rickey has developed a most aggressive system and his men are rushing the assault and taking all chances. It is evident all through baseball that the story of Boston last season had a more widespread effect than was supposed. Stallings had his players taking desperate risks and the frequency with which they succeeded weakened the other managers.

There are reports of at least 15 cases so far this season in which runners have pulled throws from the catcher to second and gone on to third. Both Tinker and Rickey have been working the double square. The number of errors to steal third base with none or one out, especially in the close games. Roger Brenahan is pushing his men on this line and using the steal of third and the double steal from second and first frequently. Rickey and Moran are doing the same thing. Rowland, the new White Sox manager, is using a dashing attack. He has speed in Weaver and Collins, and is utilizing it to the limit. He appears to advocate doing the unexpected and to rely upon the judgment of the runners largely after outlining a general assault plan.

One manager has instructed his men to attempt the steal of third, when right-handed batters are up, and ordered his right-hand clouters to bat from far back in the box when runners are on second to hamper the catcher in making the throw to third.

There will be plenty of tight decisions on the bases, with every club forcing the attack—and the ump's will have to hustle.

BASEBALL TAKING HOLD ON AUSTRALIA; CRICKET LOSING OUT

Reports from Australasia indicate that cricket is losing its place as the premier sport of the Antipodes. Ten years ago cricket was the most popular outdoor game in the island-continent. The pastime had among its votaries the best players in the world, and thousands of followers. The test matches between All-Australia and All-England played successfully in the larger cities of the Commonwealth were witnessed by throngs of enthusiasts of both sexes, and when in the alternate seasons All-Australia played in England the bulletin boards in the Commonwealth were scanned by crowds in the same manner as the world's baseball championship series is followed in the United States.

Within a decade a strange change has taken place. The Australian internationalists of note have retired from the game, but this is not by any means the sole cause of the "dry rot" which threatens the future of cricket in the Commonwealth. The main complaint is that the game needs more snappiness and brevity, such as featured in the baseball games which continue to grow in popularity. As evidence that this is the chief cause of the decadence of the sport is found in the attendance which is growing meagre even at interstate matches. The whole situation has changed. The cricketing authorities that measures of reform have been undertaken by the New South Wales Cricket association, which, it is said, when promulgated will considerably change the game as now played, and astonish cricketers not only in Australia but elsewhere.

GOLFING STARS TO COMPETE FOR THE AMERICAN TITLES

Final decision on the part of a number of the leading English professional golfers relative to participating in the United States open championship is expected within the next few days. Edward Ray and Harry Vardon have already announced their intention of competing in the open title tournament at Baltusrol, June 15-18. George Duncan, James Braid and J. H. Taylor have intimated that they will make the trip to the States, and should all five compete in the open event it will prove one of the few real international contests of the year.

These five players between them have won the English open championship seventeen times in the past twenty-one years. Vardon has captured the title six times, Taylor five times, Braid five times and Ray once. Vardon also won the United States open in 1906 when the title tournament was played at the Chicago Golf club at Wheaton, Ill. In 1913 Ray and Vardon tied with Francis Coulter in the final round at Brookline, Mass., being defeated in the play-off by the youthful American golfer after one of the most sensational matches ever played, an American course. Their participation in the United States championship would lift that event to the international plane held by the 1913 tournament when the leading professionals of England and France met the best American amateurs and professionals at Brookline, Mass.

SCHMIDT IS CHAMPION

Oakland, May 8.—Heinrich Schmidt, of the Claremont Country club, won first honors in the Panama-Pacific exposition handicap amateur golf tournament on the Claremont links yesterday, by defeating M. A. McLaughlin, of the Midwick Country club, Pasadena, Cal., three up and two to play.

Schmidt, who started two down, owing to his opponent's handicap, outdrove McLaughlin at almost every tee. At the end of the morning round of eighteen holes, however, he had been unable to gain and still was 13 strokes behind. In the final round at Brookline, Mass., being defeated in the play-off by the youthful American golfer after one of the most sensational matches ever played, an American course. Their participation in the United States championship would lift that event to the international plane held by the 1913 tournament when the leading professionals of England and France met the best American amateurs and professionals at Brookline, Mass.

SPORTING GOSSIP

Three straight for the Leafs.
Butler's return to the game meant a few wins.

Victoria has played errorless ball in the last three games.

Cyclone Scott is working out daily with Joe Bayley.

The local middleweight is to meet Fighting Mackay very soon.

Kelly is certainly pasting that ball when hits are needed.

He is a far different youth from the one that joined the locals last year.

Dutch Hoffman's return to the Leafs will add strength to the locals.

Hoffman is needed to steady the younger pitchers.

President Kingham left to-day to witness to-morrow's game at Tacoma.

Otto Nye and Lefty Woods will draw their releases to-day.

The locals will then be down to the fourteen-man limit.

Ted Ryan has been stealing a few bases on the Tiger backstop.

Con. Jones says he will have Newey Lalonde with the Vancouver club this season.

Gordon Spring has rejoined the Westminster twelve.

Malis, of Seattle, has lost his last five starts.

He does not look to be a consistent twirler, as he started out at a great rate.

This reminds us that the Seattle club have a couple of Sam Wilsons in the colored Giants.

Tacoma is switching their infield every few days, just as they did last year.

A meeting of the Victoria Tennis club will be held on Monday night.

Sooke Waterworks ARE COMPLETED TO-DAY

Notable Event in Municipal Life of Victoria; Lake Water Will Be Available Shortly

A ribbon of steel and concrete nearly forty miles long now connects Sooke lake with Victoria, city, and although there will elapse two weeks for the purpose of making points secure, and testing out the system before the water is flowing through the distributing mains, virtually with the laying of the last length of concrete pipe to-day, Sooke waterworks are finished.

Seventeen million gallons a day of mountain water will soon be available by conduit and pressure pipe in the city, and one of the best waterworks systems in the west will be ready for the official opening at an early date. Councils have come and gone, elections have been lost and won with this issue as the foremost one, and at last the scheme has been accomplished, path of its progress has been punctuated with lawsuits, one of them constituting a record in recent years, and have at length laid down the duties of the water commissioner and his measure of responsibility to council. The principles both of day and contract labor have been tried with varying success.

The controversies which raged around its inception and its advantages are too fresh in the mind for reiteration. The work has cost more than the original estimate, and including land damages, the ratepayers have authorized an expenditure up to $3,000,000, but it is hoped that figure may be eventually somewhat reduced.

The water commissioner expressed this morning his satisfaction with the expedition shown by the Pacific Lock Joint company, which has completed its section of the contract in less than stipulated time.

AT THE THEATRES

VARIETY THEATRE.

Fritz Scheff, the popular actress of the contemporary stage, makes her first appearance to-night at the Variety in the famous comedy-romance, "Pretty Mrs. Smith." The Famous Player Film Co. are to be congratulated on securing this talented star, who has scored such a marked success in this, her first appearance on the screen. Commencing Monday for three days the well known character actor, John Emerson, will be seen at the Variety in the famous sentimental comedy "The Bachelors Romance," by Martha Morton, together with that greatest of movie comedians, Charlie Chaplin, in his latest Essanay comedy production, "In the Park." This big double bill should draw capacity houses to the Variety for the entire engagement. "Are You a Mason," with John Barrymore in the leading role, is the offering for the latter half of the week.

PANTAGES THEATRE.

Big crowds at the Pantages theatre all this week have testified to the excellence of the big all-star programme, which includes that august travesty "Motoring," and five other comedy turns, which will be given their last presentation at the usual performance to-day.

Next week a special treat is in store for Pantages patrons when a number of pretty girls, daintily gowned will appear with Cora Youngblood Corson's company in the "Girls of the Golden West." They are solo artists of distinction who are equally proficient on a wide variety of instruments, including brass, reed and string, and their playing has won them the praise of many musical critics of Canada and the United States. Everywhere the act has appeared it has been received with enthusiasm by all classes, for their repertoire appeals to all tastes.

Another welcome announcement is that of the reappearance of that popular artist, Oklahoma Bob Albright, who is a favorite ballad singer. Albright has appeared here many times before, and has always been one of the big features on the bill. He is one of the most popular singers and comedians who visit Victoria. He renders the fine old songs in a manner of his own.

"Nursing a Husband" is the title of a breezy little comedy skit, in which Charles Wayne & Co. will appear to great advantage. In Mr. Wayne's support is beautiful Wilma Wilkins, one of the most attractive actresses on the vaudeville stage. She was formerly a celebrated musical comedy star, but has since been successful in the theatre. Holden and Hutton will present an unconventional song and patter act, while Kennedy and Mack, who are styled "The Two Fall Guys," are acrobats of great ability, who offer a series of original and daring feats which please the most blasé vaudeville patron.

Connelly's playhouse will be shown in the Pantagescope.

GRIMES RELEASED

Pitcher Grimes, who came to the Victoria club from Oakland, was released this morning, and Al Bonner, late Seattle pitcher, was signed. Grimes failed to make good after many starts, and his release is the beginning of a big wedding-out campaign. Bonner is known to be a good pitcher but could not get going this season. Last season, when a member of the Seattle team, he won 22 games and lost 15.

"You eat very little, Mr. Smith," said the maiden coyly to the bashful lover who had been invited to share the family dinner.

A POSITIVE CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

Hundreds of People Have Found "Fruit-a-tives" Their Only Help

READ THIS LETTER

Superintendent of Sunday School in Toronto Tells How He Cured Himself of Chronic Rheumatism After Suffering for Years.

"55 Dovercourt Road, Oct. 1, 1913.

"For a long time I have thought of writing you regarding what I term a most remarkable cure effected by your ready 'Fruit-a-tives.' I suffered from Rheumatism, especially in my hands. I have spent a lot of money without any good results. I have taken 'Fruit-a-tives' for 15 months now, and am pleased to tell you that I am cured. All the enlargement has not left my hands and perhaps never will, but the soreness is all gone and I can do any kind of work. I have gained 35 pounds in 18 months."

"R. A. WAUGH."

Rheumatism is no longer the dreaded disease it once was. Rheumatism is no longer one of the "incurable diseases." "Fruit-a-tives" has proved its marvelous powers over Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago—in fact, over all such diseases which arise from some derangement of stomach, bowels, kidneys or skin.

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold by all dealers at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

90 per cent is lost

It is a startling statement that of all the money paid by a leading life company to beneficiaries in seven years, 90% of it had been spent or lost. Yet that was proved by a careful investigation to be the case.

IN THE LODGE ROOM I. O. O. F.

Meetings Next Week.

Monday—Victoria Lodge No. 1.

Tuesday—Colfax Rebekah Lodge No. 1.

Wednesday—Columbia Lodge No. 2.

Thursday—Dominion Lodge No. 4.

Friday—Canton Victoria No. 2.

Victoria Lodge No. 1.

A very important report from the trustees of this lodge was dealt with last Monday evening. The election of representatives to the grand lodge resulted in the choice of Bro. R. Livingston, P. G., and Bro. J. H. McConnell, P. G., Bro. Thos. Hubbard, P. G., and Bro. A. Gower, P. G., were elected alternates. The first nomination of officers for the ensuing term will take place next Monday evening.

Colfax Rebekah Lodge No. 1.

The regular meeting of this lodge will be held on Tuesday evening next, when the degree of Rebekah will be conferred. The election of representatives to the Rebekah assembly will also take place at this meeting. Those members who have not witnessed the degree work as presented by Colfax lodge should make it convenient to attend next Tuesday evening, and see the degree of Rebekah conferred in a manner which leaves no doubt as to who will win the banner in the coming competition.

Vancouver Encampment No. 1.

There was a splendid attendance at the encampment last Tuesday evening, and at the conclusion of the routine business the whist drive was continued. The three highest scores were: Pat. R. L. Millar, 35; Pat. A. Anderson, P. C. P., 34; Pat. P. G. Cudlip, 33. The second nomination and election of officers for the ensuing term will take place at the next meeting.

Columbia Lodge No. 2.

Bro. A. P. McConnell, P. G., and Bro. N. L. Dunn, P. G., were elected representatives to the grand lodge last Wednesday evening. Bro. Jas. Wilby, P. G., and Bro. R. M. Sandborn, P. G., were elected alternates. The trustees of this lodge submitted a very important report, and the action taken by them was unanimously endorsed. The first nomination of officers for the ensuing term will take place next Wednesday evening, and the whist tournament will be continued.

Dominion Lodge No. 4.

Bro. Jas. Bell, P. G., and Bro. A. Milligan, P. G., were elected representatives to the grand lodge last Thursday evening. Bro. F. R. Shaver, P. G., and Bro. F. Dresser, P. G., were elected alternates. The initiatory degree was conferred by this lodge at the last session, and the team work was very satisfactory. Bro. F. R. Shaver, P. G., officiated as noble grand in the absence of Bro. F. Newman. A letter was read from Bro. F. Newman, who is at St. Johns, Que., with the corps which left here recently. Bro. Newman reports himself in the best of health and sends best wishes to his many friends in the city. The time of departure from St. Johns is not made known. Bro. Newman states. As there are several candidates for the third degree it is probable this degree will be conferred next Thursday evening. The first nomination of officers for the ensuing term will take place at the next meeting.

Canton Victoria No. 2.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Canton No. 2 will be held next Friday evening. All members are requested to attend.

Silk Tapestry.

For centuries Japanese weavers in silk have been famed for their exquisite tapestry work, or "tsurezure nishiki," as it is known in the native tongue. Nowhere are more artistic productions wrought, and along certain lines the Japanese workmen, with their handloom create a tapestry which no other race has so far equaled, says the Argonaut. How long Japan has been cultivating the art of weaving pictures from silk and gold in this manner is not accurately known, but some of the national specimens of silk brocade are very old, and it is altogether likely that the art has been known since Japan's first acquaintance with China in the very remote past.

With the development of the art the method of weaving naturally became more and more complex, and its best achievements objects of real beauty, such as only a true artist could conceive and produce. Silk brocade soon came to be looked upon as the very highest attainment of the weaver's art, and the most highly prized of all textiles.

Of course, all hangings and ornaments, as well as dresses, of such costly material could be afforded only by great personages, like princes and nobles; and even these wore them, or showed them, only on the most important occasions. Owing to the scarcity of artists equal to this task, and the expense and difficulty of producing successful brocade, it was woven on but a very small scale until the opening of the Meiji era, when improved machinery was introduced and great progress was made in the making of tsurezure-nishiki.

The master to whom the nation owes most of these later achievements is Mr. Jimbei Kawashima, of Kyoto, the artist selected by the late emperor to weave the masterpiece of the Peace Palace of the Hague. The late emperor's approval of the spirit and purpose of the institution, decided to furnish the wall decoration for one of the rooms. It was soon ascertained that the size of the pieces necessary to the fulfillment of the promise would be of great dimensions, and that anything before attempted. The artist was soon equal to the occasion, however, and at once had a new loom and enlarged room to house it built, and the necessary facilities for the great task were soon installed. The tapestry was to consist of six pieces, three feet wide and thirty feet long. The process is unimaginably slow, more than a day being occupied in advancing three inches; and in case of a very delicate bit of scenery only about half an inch a day can be done.

Usually the brocade weaver prefers scenes from Japanese life or history, but for the palace of the imperial crown prince European paintings were taken for models; the results proving very satisfactory. One of the largest pieces of silk tapestry in the palace is 15 feet by 24, and represents the Hyakka-byakko, or scene of a hundred birds and flowers. The piece took several years to complete, and the bird and flower effects are wonderfully lifelike and beautiful. Another fine piece, 5 feet by 12, representing a dog carrying an object in its mouth, was presented to the imperial Russian crown prince by the imperial family of Japan. An admirable specimen of tsurezure-nishiki from Japan is to be seen in the Chicago museum, the piece measuring 12 by 22 feet. Some of the greater masterpieces, however, are in possession of the imperial family.

SUNDAY'S RECORD.

"Billy" Sunday's "evangelistic" campaign in Philadelphia produced a $10,000 "thank-offering," together with certificates of approval and appreciation from the mayor, John Wanamaker, and many other prominent men. As a result of a stormy controversy over the propriety of improperly of Sunday's methods, his slang, his platform gymnastics, and his sincerity, there is now published a tabulation of the "results" of his work in twenty-one cities within the last ten years:

Portland, Ore., May 8.—The Oregonian says:

"By sinking the Lusitania the Germans have shown their determination to destroy the commerce of Great Britain with neutral countries," said the speaker. "The loss of many lives, even of neutrals, appears to be a matter of no consequence to them; or, if it is of consequence, they take the hazard. Until all the facts are known it cannot be stated how gravely, in this instance, the rights of neutrals and the dictates of common humanity have been violated."

"Of certain facts there can be no question. The Lusitania, though adapted for conversion into a cruiser and though equipped with 12 six-inch guns) The British government has announced that the Lusitania carried no guns, was engaged in commerce, not in any warlike enterprise. She carried no passengers, but only a few crew members were doubtless American, and therefore neutrals. She also carried much freight, a large part—perhaps the larger part—of which was contraband of war. Even the allies do not deny that a German warship would have been justified in seizing the Lusitania and taking the vessel into a German port for search.

"If the bulk of the cargo was contraband, the Germans might hold her as a prize, or, in case they could not take her into a port within her reach, to the danger of sinking her. But they must give warning to all persons on board to leave the ship, and must allow time for this to be done. These are the rules laid down in the Declaration of London, and though that instrument is not in force, its principles have been generally recognized by civilized nations.

In defence of the sinking of the ship given before she sailed that this fate awaited her and that those who went on board did so at their own peril. This warning may be sufficient, but as the owners as her protectors, but as an aggregate of her destroyers and as justifying the ship in carrying guns for defence. The Lusitania was on a peaceful mission and was doing no military service. Her guns were intended solely for defence; the presence on board of 1253 civilian passengers, the neutral nature of the cargo, the idea that ships were carrying in search of hostile ships to capture. Yet she was torpedoed ten miles from shore without warning and sank in 20 minutes. The act evidences a disregard for the lives of non-combatants which, prior to this war characterized barbarians.

"When Germany inaugurated her policy of submarine warfare, she was aware of the Lusitania, one of the sinking of the Lusitania is the most serious outcome except for the loss of life in the Falaba, the United States government informed Germany that the announced plan of operations was constrict to international law and that strict accountability would be exacted for all infractions of that law. In the face of this warning a German submarine torpedoed the American steamship Gulfport and a German aeroplane dropped bombs on the American steamship Albatross. The British passenger steamer Falaba was sunk. The fact that an American was among the passengers drowned gives the United States a direct interest in the case.

"Reford for the honor of the United States and for the rights of American citizens demands that the government should pick up its previous neutral claims for protection. No self-respecting nation can permit such acts to pass without vigorous measure to obtain satisfaction. Our government rightly has chosen to exhaust the resources of diplomacy in an effort to uphold our rights and at the same time to maintain our neutrality in the presence of a war, the ramifications of which reach from month to month. This latest event, which nearly concerns us, is an evidence of the war's tendency to involve us, strive as we may, to avoid being drawn into it. In this respect we are in the same position as other neutrals, for the Germans, in their war on British commerce, have made war on the ships of the neutrals as well as on the ships of Great Britain. The result is very plain: One would suppose that Germany had enemies enough to satisfy her, but she seems not to care how many are added in striking at those she already has."

OFFICER TELLS OF SINKING OF TROILUS

First Officer Bugby of Talthybius, Narrates His Encounter With Emden

Telling in a very vivid manner the story of the sinking of the Blue Funnel liner Troilus in the Indian ocean last December by the German cruiser Emden, First Officer Bugby arrived in Victoria this morning on the Holt liner Talthybius. This officer formerly visited Victoria as second officer on the Ajax, and at the time of his encounter with the Kaiser's raider he was acting in a similar capacity on the Troilus.

"We sailed from Colombo on October 17," said the officer, "and on the following day at 2 p. m. we were overtaken by the Emden. She placed a prize crew aboard us, and for 24 hours we kept in her wake. At the time we were captured the British steamer Buresk, of London, was with the cruiser, having been forced to act as a collier. At that time the Buresk had the crews of four steamers on board.

"During the time we had the prize crew on board the Emden, overhauled three other British steamers, the St. Egbert, the Exford and Chilkana. The crews were transferred from the Exford and Chilkana to the St. Egbert, and the vessels sunk. Our turn then came. We were ordered to leave the ship and proceed aboard the St. Egbert, which was carrying cargo from India to the United States, for which reason she escaped destruction. The crews on the Buresk were also transferred to the St. Egbert, making a total of 400 seamen on the latter vessel. We proceeded to Cochin. We arrived there after a 24-hour run. Fortunately the weather was fine, and we did not feel the effects of sleeping on deck. I then proceeded to Colombo and boarded one of our steamers for Liverpool.

"The Germans had quite a time sinking the Troilus. They opened the sea-cock in the engine-room, which was flooded, and then three shots were fired into her. She started to settle by the head, but stuck. Four hours later the Emden returned, and had to fire four additional shots before the vessel took her last plunge."

Upon returning to England Mr. Bugby entered the coasting trade between the United Kingdom and Amsterdam. He was homeward bound on Sunday, January 25, when the great naval action took place in the North Sea.

Arch-Fiend is being CONGRATULATED BY MANY

London, May 8.—The Exchange Telegraph company has received a dispatch from Berlin by way of Amsterdam which reads: "Hundreds of telegrams of congratulation are being sent to Admiral von Tiesdorff, who reached this city last night, remained in seclusion to-day. At the hotel where he was staying, it was said that he had gone to Washington. It is understood that he left orders not to be disturbed.

IN SECLUSION.

New York, May 8.—Count von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States, who reached this city last night, remained in seclusion to-day. At the hotel where he was staying, it was said that he had gone to Washington. It is understood that he left orders not to be disturbed.

At the entrance of the suite usually occupied by Count von Bernstorff a guard was stationed to-day.

Gentlemen! I say, waiter, I've just cracked this egg; look at it! Waiter: "Don't look very nice at that end, sir, try the other."

SAW BRITISH FORCES HOLDING SUEZ CANAL

Talthybius' Officers Saw Battered Lighters on Banks; Makes Smart Voyage

Maintaining an average speed of 13.2 knots an hour the Blue Funnel liner Talthybius, Capt. Culum, in port this morning from Liverpool, completed the 4,200-mile run across the Pacific from Yokohama in 12 days and 19 hours. This is an exceptionally smart run for the big steamship, but does not establish a new record. The Proteus, now loading on the Sound, made the voyage in 12 days, 5 hours and 19 minutes, about eighteen months ago.

Splendid weather was encountered crossing the Pacific, and this enabled the Talthybius to arrive two days ahead of her schedule. Chief Engineer Christie says that it was the finest voyage he has made across the pond in ten years. The weather at present on the North Circle is phenomenal. The Talthybius seems to have been particularly favored this trip, as from the time she cleared from the Mersey the weather has been beautiful.

Steamed Through Blockade. The Talthybius steamed through the German submarine blockade. The ship sailed from Liverpool on February 24 and before getting away every man jack on board prayed for a storm. But as they steamed through the Irish Sea the weather was beautiful and there was scarcely a ripple on the water. The ship was driven at her top speed in order to get out of the danger zone. Numerous British destroyers and gunboats were seen, but not one hostile port was sighted.

Steaming through the Suez canal, the officers and crew saw the Australian and British troops waiting for the Turkish forces. They had just repulsed one attack made by the sultan's army, and some of the steel pontons in which the Turks hoped to cross the canal were seen on the banks riddled with holes from the allied guns.

New Faces on Liner.

There are only four old-time faces on the Talthybius. She is to spend a year in the new trans-Pacific service of the company, sailing between here and Hongkong, and changes were made before leaving Liverpool. Capt. Culum returns as master, Chief Engineer Christie is back again, Percy Cupid, the steward, has been retained, and "Napoleon," the young cabin boy, would not leave the good ship. The new officers are: First Officer Bugby, Second Officer Redwood, Third Officer Dunovan, Second Engineer Dean, Third Engineer Johnson, Fourth Engineer Cash, Purser Maples, who formerly sailed on the Teucer, and Wireless Operators Graham and Little.

The Talthybius brings to Victoria a full cargo of freight, and she has 1,900 bales of silk worth $500,000. The ship will return here about Wednesday or Thursday from the Sound to land her local cargo.

ASCUNSION REMAINS

HARD ON MUD BANK

Captain Expects She Will Float To-morrow Morning; Oil is Pumped From Her.

Vancouver, May 8.—The Standard oil tanker Ascension, which went ashore on Roberts Bank, one hundred yards from the black buoy at the mouth of the Fraser early yesterday, is still aground. The tanker pumped out 1,000 barrels into an Imperial Oil Company's scow yesterday but failed to float at high tide.

This afternoon the tanker Col. E. L. Drake, Captain Badger, which has been discharging at the G. T. P. wharf, will leave for the scene of the stranded vessel and will take some of the Ascension's oil aboard. When the Ascension floats about 1 a. m. to-morrow (as is expected) the Col. E. L. Drake will pump the oil back to the Ascension and then come back to Vancouver to complete the discharging of her cargo. At noon to-day Captain Badger expressed the opinion that the Ascension would be floated.

STOP WAR RISK QUOTATIONS.

Portland, Ore., May 8.—"Stop all war risk quotations on ships and cargoes from this coast," is the gist of a telegram from San Francisco to-day received by G. C. Nicholson, marine insurance representative, with Balfour, Guthrie & Co., following news of the sinking of the Lusitania.

Nicholson said he believed this attitude on the part of the underwriters would be only temporary, or until Lloyd's and other insurance interests made up their minds what to do. He said he did not believe this action would stop shipping.

TURNED OUT.

London, May 8.—The feeling of resentment against Germany over the torpedoing of the Lusitania was so strong on the stock exchange to-day that the British members united and turned out their fellow members of German origin and also German clerks bodily out of the house.

London, May 8.—The Kempton Park Great Jubilee handicap, $15,000, one mile and a quarter, was won here to-day by Lord D'Abernon's five-year-old chestnut horse Diadumenos, by Orby Donnelly, who carried 7 stone 12 lb. and started at 100 to 1. Lord Rosebery's Wrack, 10 to 1, was second, and L. Neumann's Lantus, 5 to 1, third.

WILL TAKE NO STEPS TO LOCATE CHINAMAN

City Has No Money to Spend to Bring Back Alleged Kidnapper; $400 Wanted

No steps will be taken by the city to see that Wong Kung Sing, the Chinaman who is alleged to have kidnapped his wife on April 16, is brought back to Canada to face a charge which persons in Victoria are prepared to lay. This was the decision of Mayor Stewart, when interviewed on Thursday afternoon by Rev. Dr. Osterhout, superintendent of Methodist and other missions in British Columbia, and a number of local clergymen and other persons who are interested in the case.

The interviewers desired to ascertain whether the city would follow the case any further. The mayor stated that there was no money at present available for the purpose of the work, but he intimated that following the production of funds by those interested the city would assist as much as possible.

Following this conference the interviewers drafted a night lettergram to the minister of justice at Ottawa, requesting that some action be taken in the matter. Yesterday afternoon the social service commission assembled, and it was decided to send another lettergram to the minister. The commission also drafted a number of questions which will be forwarded to the police commissioners of this city for answers. The questions touch on the part the police officers are said to have played.

Dispute Over "Kidnap."

There seems to be a dispute as to the meaning of the word "kidnap." Some make the contention that man is the head of his household, and can compel his wife to journey with him wherever he wishes.

Sub-section 2, of Section A, Article 287 of the Criminal code, reads as follows: "To cause such other person to be unlawfully sent or transported out of Canada against his will."

This is claimed by those working on the case to discredit all statements that the woman was not kidnapped. She was forcibly taken away against her will—a fact which has been proven—whereby the act of kidnapping was committed.

In the event of deportation the agent of the company whose steamship must carry the deportant, is always notified. W. R. Dale, local agent of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, to which line the Shidzuoka Maru belongs, states that he received notice of the deportation of Mrs. Sing, and that no deportation papers were served on the ship.

Robert McCloskey, the immigration officer, who was at the gangplank the day the alleged kidnapping took place, stated yesterday, in refuting statements made by the police that he had shown them the photograph and deportation papers for the woman, and that he had said that everything was all right, that he had not shown the officers any picture of Mrs. Sing nor had he told them that everything was all right. When approached by the officer he showed the photographs of Sing and the four children who accompanied the parents, but denies having shown one for the woman, as no registration paper was made out.

One of the Chinese who assisted the husband in placing the woman on board the ship, is in this city. He came ashore shortly before the boat sailed, and it is likely that a charge will be laid against him as being an accomplice.

The Shidzuoka Maru reached Kobe on Thursday, and is leaving to-day for Shanghai, where she is due to arrive on Thursday next. The ship will dock at Hongkong on May 17. Sing was looked through to the British possession.

Those working on the case are now waiting anxiously for a reply from the minister of justice.

In the meantime the girl's father is trying to raise the sum of $400, which is necessary to bring the man back, but he is encountering many difficulties and may not succeed.

TWO VICTORIANS SAFE

A cablegram received to-day by the Times stated that Mrs. Thos. K. Turkin was among the survivors. No mention is made of her husband or eleven-year-old son.

R. W. Whaley, of Victoria, also survived the disaster, according to a cablegram received this morning by E. Galop, of the Colonist.

MANY SHIPS READY TO CARRY TROOPS

Japan is Prepared to Invade China Unless Government of Republic Gives In

Tokio, May 8.—Failing to receive any reply from China on its ultimatum, Japan to-day prepared to invade the celestial empire unless its demands are granted. More than 1,000 Japanese steamships have been held for possible use by the government for the transportation of troops to China and all is in readiness for the return immediately to Japan of all its representatives in China if war should come.

It was announced semi-officially to-day that every effort will be used to prevent clashes with the Chinese if it becomes necessary to enforce Japan's demands by force of arms. Forces will be landed on Chinese soil, and an attempt made to occupy Peking and other large cities. These, it was said, will be held in Japanese occupation until some definite arrangement with China is reached.

The chief base of Japan's operations is expected to be Tientsin in case it should be necessary to send expeditions.

The local Chinese, so far as the sources of information through Shanghai sources go, have not received any intimation of the outbreak of war, and a message received by the New Republic, the local Chinese paper, last evening, via San Francisco, definitely states that President Yuan Shih Kai has granted all the important Japanese demands, and has issued instructions to the provincial governors to prevent anti-Japanese demonstrations.

Great excitement was occasioned in Chinatown by the publication this morning of a bulletin which indicated that war was inevitable. There has not been so much interest shown since the rebellion of 1911, when the Manchu dynasty was overthrown.

HOPES PEOPLE WILL

RESERVE JUDGMENT

President Wilson's Attitude Concerning the Sinking of the Lusitania

Washington, May 8.—Appalled by the tragic aspect of the Lusitania disaster as hourly developments disclosed its magnitude and far-reaching possibilities, with the probable loss of 137 American lives, President Wilson and his advisors are waiting for all the facts and for a crystallization of public opinion to aid in laying out the course the United States will pursue in this latest international complication.

The gravest the president has faced since the outbreak of the European war.

President Wilson, while seeking the facts, hopes that the country will assume an examining attitude and reserve full judgment until complete information is at hand.

Secretary Bryan cabled Ambassador Gerard at Berlin to-day to ask the German government informally for its report on the disaster, and to Ambassador Page at London he sent messages urging renewed efforts to aid and gather information.

President Wilson, while he went to the golf links for the recreation, left strict instructions to be notified of any dispatches. Cabinet officials who had planned a week-end holiday away from Washington, cancelled their plans. Chairman Stone of the senate foreign relations committee, issued a statement counselling calmness. Chairman Stone pointed out that qualifying circumstances must be taken into consideration because the Lusitania was a belligerent vessel, but he considered the attack on the American steamship a much more serious offence.

The American consuls at Queens-town and vicinity were ordered to render every assistance to the injured and survivors and take testimony.

The course for Ambassador Gerard is to ask the German foreign office and the German admiralty informally for the reports they have received from the commanders of the German submarines. That will be apart from any explanation which may be asked later.

Germany—as to her reasons or purposes in the act. Officials at the state department prepared the instructions to Ambassador Gerard.

Sacramento, Cal., May 8.—A resolution which would place California on record as being behind any action President Wilson may take, no matter how severe in retaliation for the sinking of the Lusitania, was introduced in the state senate here this afternoon.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

W. J. Davis Goes to Higher Court On Serious Charge Involving Woman.

William J. Davis was to-day committed by Magistrate Jay to take his trial in the higher courts on a charge of having induced a woman named Ash to come to this city from the United States for improper purposes. The evidence of the woman was taken yesterday, and the case was adjourned until this morning for the production of a telegram.

F. H. Blashfield, local manager of the Great North Western Telegraph Co., was asked to produce a telegram sent by the accused from Seattle to the woman here on April 25.

"Before-I do so," Mr. Blashfield said, "I desire to say that any communication passing through a telegraph office is supposed to be confidential and not for public information, and its contents can only be divulged by a court order."

City Prosecutor Harrison asked that such an order be made, and Magistrate Jay did so.

The message was signed by initials and was to the effect that having missed the boat he would be over next day.

Detectives Turner and Siciliano gave evidence of the arrest and search of Davis. In a back pocket, and separated from his other money, was $50, the amount the woman said she had given Davis a short time before his arrest. She was unable to identify the money, however.

R. C. Lowe, for the defence, renewed his application to have the money returned to the accused, but the court refused to make any order.

SUNDAY AFTERNOONS

Brotherhood Organized to Meet Weekly in Temple's Hall.

There has been organized in Victoria West what will be known as the Pleasant Sunday Afternoon Brotherhood, an un denominational and non-political body.

Meetings will be held every Sunday afternoon in Temple's hall from four to five o'clock, to which all the men in the neighborhood and other parts of the city are invited. The purpose is the presentation of facts concerning the various problems of the day in order that more united action may be taken in dealing with such matters as alcohol, the social evil, child-welfare and kindred subjects.

The first Sunday in each month will be an open meeting to which women will be welcome, the meeting to-morrow being the first of these. A musical programme is being prepared to which Robert Morrison and J. G. Brown will contribute solos and L. N. Brown a cornet solo. Dr. Melbourne Rayner will speak on the objects of the brotherhood, and will further outline the work which it is hoped it will be able to do in the community.

IRREGULARITY SEEN IN GRANBY SMELTER

Lost Value by Reason of American Markets' Weakness

Reflecting movements of stocks in American markets, Granby dropped sharply back this morning on the Victoria stock exchange. The quotation now stands at $2.87, but at one time during the day it was as low as $2.83, having to withstand significant selling.

Glacier rose just fractionally, and buying interest was more apparent in this stock than elsewhere in the list for the session.

As examples of firmness, Coronation and Standard Lead stood prominent. Prices in some other issues bore a softened aspect, except where unchanged.

STOCK DEALINGS OF PANICKY CHARACTER

Brokers of Floor Overloaded With Orders and Prices Nervous

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
New York, May 8.—Every floor broker's hands were full of orders this morning on the New York stock exchange. In the face of occurrences of the twenty-four hours previous to the opening, opinions as to the course of the market were valueless, and fluctuations were of a wild and nervous character. Monetary considerations were secondary, and it was the reports that the sinking of the Lusitania had resulted in a tremendous and wanton loss of life that brought the shock.

The stock market has been panicky the past two sessions and securities have been sacrificed regardless of intrinsic worth. Excepting for some moderate support in late dealings to-day traders were forced to contend with a continuous flow of European liquidation.

TO-DAY'S TRADING ON THE WINNIPEG MARKET

Winnipeg, May 8.—Quite a slump took place in wheat values to-day, the loss being 2 1/2 to 3 cents. Oats were steady and flax declined 1/2 to 1 cent. The grain exchange weather chart showed rain at many points, notably at Swift Current, which required moisture urgently. A precipitation of 2 1/2 was recorded there. There was a fair volume of trading on the decline in futures and it was noticed that buying was in good hands. No new sales for export were located, while the inquiry was fairly good.

Deliveries through the clearing house to-day were: Wheat, 4,000 bushels; oats, 16,000 bushels; flax, 17,000 bushels; barley, 16,000 bushels. The total inspections were 23,366 cars, as against 216 cars last year, and 6 in sight to-day were 150 cars.

The cash demand on the whole was slow and dull. There was an inquiry for No. 1 northern and No. 4 grade wheat. Low grade oats and low grade of barley were wanted, while there was little or no inquiry for flax. Offerings generally were light.

BUT ONE FIELD LEFT FOR SAVAGE GERMANS

May Practice Private Murder, Says Sir George Foster, Acting Prime Minister

Ottawa, May 8.—Sir George Foster, acting prime minister of Canada, today made the following comment on the action of the Germans in sinking the Lusitania.

"It was a heinous and altogether unjustifiable act, contravening all established usages of war, repugnant to the moral and humanitarian sense of the world. In the worst days of piracy pirates would have scorned such a deed."

"It appears to have been carefully planned by the German authorities in Berlin, aided by German representatives and adherents on this side of the Atlantic. The object was not to prevent contraband reaching Great Britain or to destroy enemy property. These objects could have been completely and easily attained without the sacrifice of a single life. The object clearly was to cause the greatest possible destruction of human life."

"This latest war villainy undoubtedly has shocked the world, as the German authorities intended it should, but they will find that here again their methods have over-reached the mark. The British people will not be intimidated by this dastardly work. It will only add to the grim determination of Britain and her allies to pursue the war to the end."

"But to the neutral nations of the world this last act will come as crowning evidence of the German character and the policy will serve to stamp Germany as the outlaw nation of the twentieth century, to be viewed with suspicion, horror and righteous indignation by every well-constituted civilized people. For all this Germany must face a day of final reckoning, and many generations are likely to pass before the debt will be expiated fully and Germany reinstated in honorable fellowship with the nations of the world."

STEAMSHIP TRURO SUNK; CREW SAVED

British Admiralty Announces That Destroyer Maori Was Blown Up by Mine

Hull, Eng., May 8.—The Wilson liner Truro was torpedoed this afternoon off May Island by a German submarine. The crew of 20 men were rescued.

The Maori was 280 feet long and of 1,635 tons displacement. She was built in 1909 and her complement was 71 men. She was armed with two four-inch guns and two torpedo tubes.

Liverpool, May 8.—Reports that the American steamship New York had been torpedoed off the Irish coast by a German submarine were dispelled this evening when the ship arrived off this port. The vessel's commander reported an uneventful trip.

LIQUIDATION OF WHEAT WAS QUITE PRONOUNCED

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
Chicago, May 8.—There was the most pronounced liquidation in wheat for both May and July to-day, since the bull campaign of previous months came to an end. The news of yesterday was so bearish and unsettling in character that the trade began the day with a selling flurry which took 2 1/2 to 3 cents off prices for all months.

The break was met by fairly good supporting orders, and a rally of 1 to 1 1/2 cents. The sharpest selling of the day came later and was directed directly against the early months.

$2,000 on the forty acres this would leave $140 to provide for the buying of twenty sheep. The amount required to meet interest and redemption on this loan would be $139 a year, which could be easily met out of the raising of sheep alone.

"There is an old saying that the sheep is a golden-footed animal," said Mr. Nightingale. "We have in this district about twenty thousand acres of land at present lying idle which are capable, if improved to the extent mentioned, of supplying our market with twenty thousand head of sheep annually. Twenty thousand acres of land at fifty dollars an acre would mean an expenditure of one million dollars. This seems to be a very large undertaking, but in comparison with the wild and extravagant operations of the last few years, it is a modest and conservative investment. It has the advantage of having an intrinsic productive value behind it, and, if properly financed, it would be quite needless to borrow the whole million dollars. A mathematical calculation will show us that $500,000 can be made to do the work of one million, and there would be the added advantage of having a million dollars' worth of security behind the half-million capital."

"Under a comprehensive improvement scheme of this kind the district would progress and prosper, and in the course of a few years would begin to take on the appearance of an English park. I am quite sure we are all anxious to see such desirable results from any efforts we may make in the direction of more production in this province."

Mr. Nightingale's address was listened to with the utmost interest and made a great impression on his hearers.

TO MAKE REPORT ON LATERAL SERVICES

City Engineer Advises Some Decision Should Be Made; Oak Bay Avenue

"Thousands of dollars are sunk in Victoria," said City Engineer Rust in streets committee yesterday afternoon, when asking the council members to take up his suggestion to dispense with constructing lateral services to every lot in the original construction of permanent paving. He had reported at length on the matter sometime since, but the committee had not indicated any decision on the subject.

In support of his argument he pointed to a case where the corner of Douglas street and Bay street had two lateral connections one to each corner, whereas one was enough, and he thought an examination of the subject would surprise the aldermen of the great amount of money expended in this respect.

Ald. McKel favored the present system as the best in the long run, and eventually, on Ald. McKel's suggestion it was decided that an approximate estimate should be prepared showing what money has been expended in this regard.

It was further resolved that a report should be prepared on the streets which have been proposed for paving, and the status of the situation presented so that the council might know what work has yet to be done, and how much local improvement work can be accomplished this year with the funds available. The chairman of the finance committee, Ald. McKel, stated that this represents about $200,000 after allowance for the $50,000 already expended this year.

In this connection it is proposed, in order to improve the approach to the St. Joseph's hospital, to pave this street on the initiative plan, as the owners are said to support this scheme.

A mistake appears to have been made with regard to the estimate of the boulevard on Vancouver street, between Pembroke street and Queen's avenue, as the amended estimate is now set at $225 instead of $244, the rate per foot front being 54 cents. The objectors will be so informed.

Considerable discussion took place with regard to Oak Bay avenue, the improvement of which is complicated by a number of difficulties, and eventually it was decided to hold a meeting of owners interested next Friday in the hope of reaching a satisfactory conclusion.

The present surface, and assess the property on the work already done. It was stated that $2,000 is being added yearly to the taxes by the failure to make an assessment on the street.

TO AMERICA.

J. MCM

America! Why stand ye still? Why hesitate to clear your skirts of that which fouls
Your noble self? If liberty's the charter which ye claim,
Why stood ye by to see the weak undone? Since by your act ye shared the sacred trust.

Why was thy plaint not voiced with Britain's at what Time the hell-advised aggressor gave the rein to hate
And trampled on a peaceful folk? Oh, cruel deed! The meek acquiescence held you in its thrall.

Nor protestation voiced a word of this That might have curbed the venom of the beast
When from his lair he thundered forth to outrage, and to kill the weak.
Now, witness ye! A mighty race that shares its blood with you,
That gave ye birth, that gave ye mother tongue.

Struggles in death-grips with a bitter foe, To smite a friend, an enemy to peace,
An enemy to nations' weal and sweet enlightenment. And only anxious to invite the clouds of hate.

To darken with their sinister forms your land. With such a foe, then, in battle-grim arrayed, see Britain's sons
On Flanders' blood-drenched soil struggling for liberty.

For us, for you, for all Since ye shall share it with the victors in the fight, Sweet liberty, as dear as life. Yet well ye know Of short duration must its reason be.

If ye, unhappily, such consummation choiced That Treston foe might by the laws of fate
Become the victor— Then, on your guard, America! And though the awful curse of war your coffers fill,
Or though the need of nations to your shame do bring A wave of industry.

Banish the thought That such could well ameliorate or ease the burden.
That alas! may be in future years your own. Since filthy gold no more can do than justice.

When involved is the cause of right: "In God we trust." Then with that self-same motto gird your loins,
Since God with those that serve Him favor joins.

COURAGE OR COWARDICE WHICH WILL IT BE?

Interview With Judge Freeman on Problem America Now Faces

This morning Judge Freeman was asked by a Times reporter to give his views on the sinking of the Lusitania. "It reports are correct," said the judge, "the tragedy is without precedent in ancient and without parallel in modern history. It is a shock to civilization, and will, in my opinion, be echoed from every part of the civilized world. It was worse than piracy, for the pirate murders on an open sea, and murders for profit. The deeds of the German submarine murdered for the mere pleasure of it."

"If the Germans claim the ship was carrying contraband such claim does not in the least mitigate the crime. The Germans had a right, if the ship was carrying contraband, to seize her and carry her into port as a prize."

Reporter: "But suppose the Germans say they have no navy in that part of the sea, and were therefore unable to capture the great liner, what then?"
Judge Freeman: "The answer, the conclusive answer is, that the majority of the German navy to capture vessels engaged in carrying contraband affords not a particle of justification for the murder of a thousand innocent people who are more travelers. I am perfectly familiar with the claim made by Germany, that warning had been given to the public that the Lusitania would be torpedoed, but there were more than a thousand people on board the Lusitania, who believed that the German people were civilized. They believed that those threats were not serious."

"Has it come to this, that the German monarchy can declare the open sea a war zone and drive every neutral from it? Are innocent travelers of other and neutral countries to be murdered wholesale to gratify Prussian brutality? Can Germany be allowed to use poison gases on the field of battle, to drop bombs on sleeping, unarmed villages, to plant the sea with mines, to torpedo passenger vessels, destroying the lives of thousands of innocent men, women and children? Can she do all this without protest? Have we not reached the limit? Suppose she should send secret agents and poison the water supply of London and Paris, destroying millions of lives, for this would be no more—criminal than the murder of a thousand passengers on board the Lusitania—suppose she should do all these things, is the world to stand and gaze on without protest? This is not warfare, it is piracy in its worst form. It is murder. Can any honorable people remain neutral as to these matters?"

On being asked what, in view of the destruction of the lives of Americans, would be the course pursued by the government at Washington, he said that he was not able to say, that everything depended on whether courage or cowardice governed the administration.

"What Mr. Wilson ought to do," he added, "is to call an extra session of the congress, and what that congress ought to do is to take immediate steps to prepare the United States to protect her citizens from the outrages that have been perpetrated by the German authorities in the present war. Our commerce is being destroyed and our citizens murdered on the high seas. We went to war with poor old Mexico because five blue-jackets were held under arrest five minutes in Tampico, though the Mexican authorities apologized for it, and yet we have seen our ships destroyed by Prussian pirates, and our citizens drowned by Prussian submarines, and as yet no word of protest has been spoken. The time for protest has passed; the time for action is upon us. It is merely a question of courage or cowardice."

ROCK BAY BRIDGE.

Some Proposals Are Accepted and Others Are Referred Back.

The city council, in streets committee yesterday, decided to agree to a release for the federal department of public works to dredge in Rock Bay, this release indemnifying the department against damage to the bridge in dredging.

By a majority of one the aldermen favored the department paying for the removal of the site of the bridge, which will be necessary for the dredging.

The members declined to approve of the district engineer's proposal to make the opening 70 feet instead of 83 feet, as this would add considerably to the proposed expenditure by the city on the bridge.
